Britain On Road To 'Bankruptcy'

Churchill Warns Nation Financial Position Warrants Him Taking Exceptional Measures

LONDON, Nov. 6 (CP).—Prime Minister Winston Churchill declared today his new Conservative government found Britain on the road to "national bankruptcy."

He warned the nation it is entering a period of emergency during which he will be forced to take "exceptional measures."

"We are convinced," he told the House of Commons, "that it is necessary to present the facts plainly to the nation in order that everyone might realize where we stand."

In addition to stringent financial action, Churchill said he will ask soon for a secret session of Commons at which he will give it

Does Not Specify Remedies

Churchill did not specify just what remedies he has in mind, but said:

"We feel that a solemn resolve by Parliament and by the British people to set their house in order without delay and the measures necessary to give effect to this resolve will act as a tonic to our credit all the world over."

Churchill described the nation's financial position as "the gravest matter I have to bring before the

Worse Than Crisis Of 1949

Churchill said Britain has a deficit crisis worse than that of 1949 and is running into debt abroad at the rate of £700,000,000 or nearly $2,000,000,000 a year. The pound was devalued in 1949.

He said the deficit crisis is not only worse than 1949 but "in many ways worse than in 1947." He referred to financial help from the United States in those years, saying: "Do not let us forget during the last six years the immense financial help loaned or given us by the U.S. government and our

Speech Read By Lord Simonds

The Throne Speech also said: 1. Stand pat in Egypt and press for a Middle-East defense plan. 2. "Try to repair the injuries (British) rights and interests suffered in Iran." 3. De-nationalize the steel industry taken over by the Socialist government. 4. Attack cartels and monopolies.

Elizabeth, Philip Mix Freely With Maritimers

FREDERICTON, Nov. 6 (CP).—Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh mingled freely with New Brunswick students, lumberjacks, miners and farmers today. Their visit to this New Brunswick capital was one of the most homey and informal of their Canadian tour.

In clear, crisp weather they arrived in Fredericton to receive their first official Maritime greeting. Students at the University of New Brunswick, where the couple stopped first, found Royalty as friendly as themselves.

Red and black-clad students swarmed around the car and shouted their college cheer. The Royal couple smiled and waved happily as they walked through police lines and mingled with the students. Then they entered the library where they asked Dr. A. W. Trueman, president of the University, a number of questions about the various documents and manuscripts on display.

STUDIES LETTER Dr. Trueman showed the Princess an autographed book from Queen Victoria, but the Duke was most interested in a letter which Lord Nelson had written Lady Hamilton. Philip studied the letter for a long time.

The Royal couple were also interested in Kipling's famous stanzas in verse. The Princess stamped Dr. Trueman on one thing. "Have you got Winston Churchill's com-

City Postman Held On Mail Theft Charge

A Victoria postman was arrested today on a charge of robbing the mails.

Taken into custody was Percival Alan Jones, 36, of 1306 Bay Street.

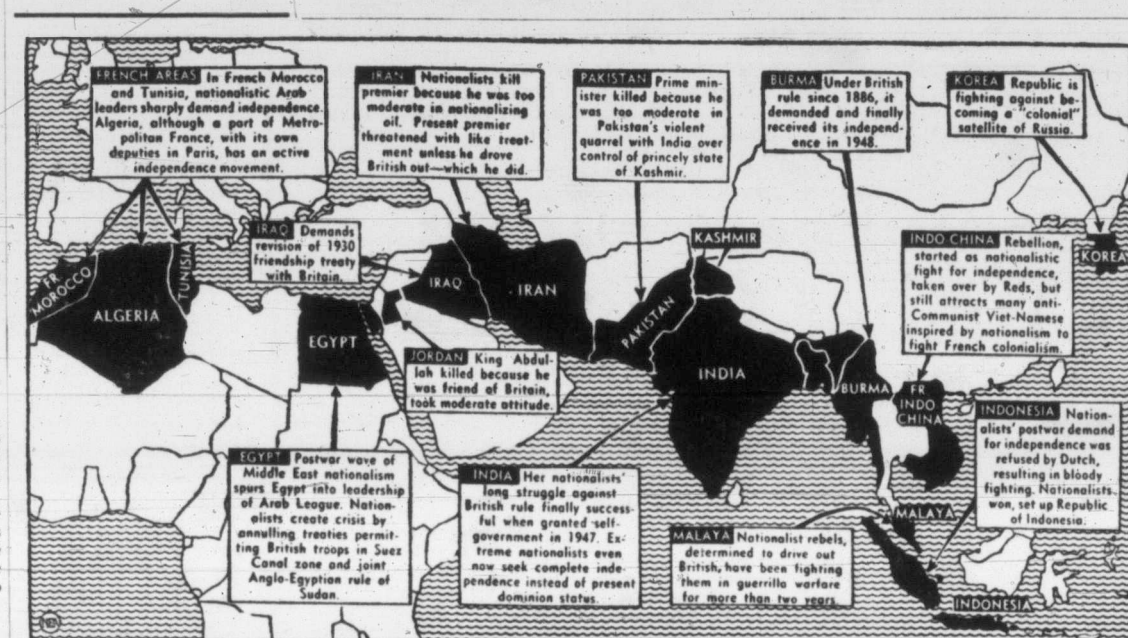

Arrest was made at the Victoria Post Office on information laid by postal inspector W. H. Wilson.

Jones was charged with theft of two letters containing money. The charge is laid under the Criminal Code. Convictions can draw sentences from a minimum of six months in jail to life imprisonment.

Jones will appear before Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court Wednesday to answer to the charge.

BIG RAILWAY STRIKE CALLED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (AP).—The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen today called a strike at four major railroads to begin at 3 p.m. (local standard time) Thursday. All major railroads have been under government seizure for some time.

Rise Of Nationalism In East Throws Shadows On West

Great surge of nationalistic, anti-colonialism unrest is sweeping from China coast to North Africa. Long-smoldering, it was sparked off by Japan. Although beaten in Second World War, her wartime propaganda

"Asia for the Asiatics" lives on and is echoed in the nationalism rampant through Moslem world from Morocco to Pakistan. Russia is working hard to make capital out of anti-west sentiment.

Seek War End With No Truce

MUNSAN, Korea, Nov. 6 (AP).—The United Nations' command spokesman said today the Communists want to call off the fighting in Korea without signing a formal armistice.

The U.N., he said, will have none of that.

Brig-Gen. William P. Nuccio, the spokesman, said the Reds tipped their hand Tuesday when they rejected the latest Allied proposal. That was an offer to set aside the stalemate cease-fire buffer-zone issue for the moment and take up other items that must be settled before a formal armistice can be signed.

The Reds demanded, Nuccio said, immediate "final, formal solution" of the buffer-zone matter before proceeding to the rest of the agenda.

Nuccio said this would in effect allow a de facto cease-fire—an end to the fighting without formal agreement—and let armistice talks drag on indefinitely.

There was speculation the Communists wanted an unofficial armistice: (1) to get relief from Allied air poundings, (2) because it might pin down a great amount of the west's available military forces, and (3) because they can't stand another U.N. offensive.

Nuccio said the only incentive that makes the Reds keep talking is "continuing pressure of possible hostilities." Nuccio said Red rejection of the Allied proposal was in effect a turn-down of a previous understanding that hostilities would continue until an armistice was only tentative and subject to final revision.

HEAVY RED BLOWS

U.S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Nov. 6 (AP).—Chinese infantrymen captured a third hill on the expanding western front today and held two other peaks against Allied counter-attacks.

The Communists won three other hills but lost them again. Their three-day offensive spread through drizzling rain over a 20-mile sector. Supported by their heaviest display of armor in months, they hit United Nations' forces from points west of Yonchon—eight miles north of the 38th Parallel—to the hills north of Chonwon, western anchor of their old Iron triangle.

LONG SURGERY ON EVA PERON

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 6 (Reuters).—Eva Peron, wife of the Argentine president, was successfully operated on today, an official broadcast said.

No details of the nature of the operation were given, but Argentine news agencies said it lasted three hours and 20 minutes.

MILK CHARGES DOUBLED TO PAY BOARD SALARIES

B.C. Milk Board doubled its charges to distributors and producers to pay salaries of two new members, chairman E. C. Carr said today.

In a telephone interview from Vancouver, Carr said also the additional revenue was needed to cover increased costs. The board had been holding more hearings lately.

Notice of the doubling of the charges was received by island dairy farmers and distributors Monday. No reason was given.

Their anger at the action was not cooled by Carr's statement to this newspaper. Said Henry Robinson, secretary of the V.I. Dairyman's Association: "We never asked for the addition of two members to the board."

Robinson said producers still wanted to know what had happened to surpluses the Milk Board had recorded in the past.

France Wants 'Big 4' Meet

PARIS, Nov. 6 (AP).—France's President Vincent Auriol suggested today that President Truman, Prime Minister Churchill and Generalissimo Stalin meet for private talks in Paris during the session of the United Nations' General Assembly opening today.

The suggestion was made in a speech prepared for delivery before the 60-country assembly's initial meeting.

Auriol did not mention the American, British and Russian leaders by name, but referred to them as the "distinguished men to whom all anxious eyes are turned."

He said he feels sure, if they came here to consider their differences in private and within the scope of the U.N., that progress could be made toward easing current world tensions.

Truman has replied to previous suggestions for a big-four meeting by saying that he would be glad to meet Stalin in Washington.

Stalin, on the other hand, never has been willing to go so far from Russia. There has been no indication that either leader has changed his mind.

The U.N. delegates, meanwhile, gathered for a session which even before Auriol's suggestion was being described as decisive for peace.

Luis Padilla Nervo of Mexico, was elected president of the United Nations general assembly. The vote was 44 for Padilla Nervo, nine for Victor Andres Blaunde of Peru and six for Adolfo Costa Du Rels of Bolivia. Just before the assembly opened a British spokesman said

C.P.R. Hits Equalized Rail Rates

OTTAWA, Nov. 6 (CP).—The Canadian Pacific Railway today told a Commons special committee it is opposing some provisions in the government's freight-rate "equalization" legislation.

The company made this known to the committee, opening hearings on the legislation, after the government-owned Canadian National Railway said it has no objection in principle to the three bills before the committee.

The measures, which have received second reading in the Commons, provide:

1. Directions to the rate-regulating Board of Transport Commissioners to undertake rate equalization so far as it can be achieved, between the different areas of Canada. This is the main bill. It also includes a $7,000,000-a-year subsidy to the railways to help them bring down their rates in thinly settled northern Ontario.

2. An amendment to the maritime freight rates act of 1927 to make regular a practice in paying rate subsidies that has been in effect for some years without legislative sanction.

3. A closer scrutiny of co-operative economy measures between the two railways.

Opening submissions before the committee, H. E. O'Donnell, C.N.R. counsel, said that "in principle the C.N.R. has no objection to these bills and has no representations to make concerning them at this time."

F. C. S. Evans, C.P.R. vice-president and general counsel, then began what was expected to be a long submission before the 31-man Commons group.

Top Policeman Makes Stalin's Speech For Him

LONDON, Nov. 6 (Reuters).—Not Stalin but another top Soviet leader, Lavrentie Beria, head of the secret police, made the traditional revolution anniversary speech in Moscow today, Moscow radio reported.

The ceremony—34th since the 1917 uprising brought the Communists to power—opened in the Moscow Bolshoi Theatre before a select audience of Russian notables, parliament members, party and government officials and Red army officers.

Beria said Russia has "all types of the most up-to-date weapons to inflict a crushing blow on any aggressor who... should attack our Fatherland."

On the domestic scene, he said Russia now produces as much steel as Britain, France, Belgium and Sweden together, as much cotton as India, Pakistan and Egypt and coal output is rising by 24,000,000 tons a year, oil by 6,300,000.

Evidence Indicates Early Break With Western Powers

CAIRO, Nov. 6 (Reuters).—Indications mounted today that Egypt is preparing to break with the west and side with Russia for Communist support against Britain in the tussle for control of the Suez Canal.

Press reports here and dispatches from the United Nations session in Paris pointed to a swing to the east as gun-fire crackled again in the troubled canal zone.

A band of Egyptian guerrillas opened up on two British sentries near Ismailia in the zone, but fled when the Britons returned the fire. Nobody was hurt. British spokesmen also reported that an army truck was fired on outside of Ismailia Monday night—also without casualties.

Strongest pointers to likelihood of moving in with Russia—and perhaps signing a friendship pact—came from the Paris U.N. session and in local newspapers.

The paper Al Nida said today

New Trade Pact Hinted

Diplomats here figure there may be something in the wind despite Egypt's repeated assertion that political and religious traditions would prevent the country from ever going Communist.

The paper Al Nida said also that Egypt's legation in Moscow has sent home a report "of paramount importance, bringing joy to the hearts of all Egyptians."

Another paper, the prominent Al Misri, also joined the cry to day. It said that reports of a pending friendship pact with Russia are "absolutely authentic."

A third major paper, Al Ahrar, claimed that talks at the Russian legation here will result in a new trade pact between the two countries.

Meanwhile Moslem leaders here renewed agitation for a world boycott against Britons by all Moslems. More extremist Moslems stepped up their demand that the government should issue weapons to the people to wage open war against Britons.

Churchill Ready To Fight; Wants To Meet Stalin

LONDON, Nov. 6 (UP).—Winston Churchill announced today that Britain will fight if necessary to stay in the Suez Canal Zone and called for direct negotiations with Marshal Stalin in an attempt to end the cold war.

The new Prime Minister outlined the policies of his government in a speech read at a joint session of parliament in the King's name and later in a speech of his own in the House of Commons.

"Our greatest hope in international affairs is to end what is called the cold war by negotiation at the highest level from strength and not from weakness," Churchill told the Commons. "We will endeavor to have negotiations at the highest level."

Even if a meeting with Stalin did not produce a friendship between east and west, Churchill said, it might stop the "terrible waste and strain of the cold war."

COLEY HALL DESPERATE Hypnotist Seeks To End Canucks' Losing Streak

VANCOUVER, Nov. 6 (CP).—Vancouver Canucks hockey officials with a hypnotist in an effort to check a 16-game losing streak.

Owner Coley Hall and coach Murph Chamberlain Monday submitted seven members of the club, to hypnosis and the experiment will be repeated before game time tonight.

Ray Munro, former newspaperman and now a professional hypnotist, told the Canucks he would not promise a victory against Victoria tonight, but said "Hypnosis will put you in condition of complete relaxation that will force you... to play the finest hockey of your lives."

Tonight the experiment in science will continue with Munro holding court in a locked dressing room before the entire Canucks team.

COUGARS SIGN GRUHN

Victoria Cougars today announced the signing of Hermie Gruhn, a right-winger with New Westminster Royals last season.

Gruhn was released from the Royals early this season and since then he has been with Nanaimo Clippers. He will likely see action in tonight's game with Vancouver Canucks at Vancouver. Last season, the 31-year-old

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

SQUARE DANCE SEQUEL

WHEN PRINCESS ELIZABETH and Prince Philip took to gingham and jeans to enjoy their first taste of square dancing at Rideau Hall, they probably had no idea of what they were starting. As soon as the news of their initiation into the mysterious of the "Pogey Eight," "Promenade All" and "Dive For The Oyster, Dive For The Pearl" reached England, everybody sat up and took notice.

The pictures of the Royal couple were featured on the front page of almost every British newspaper. So, next day, a London band-leader sent out an appeal for a Canadian who could act as "caller" at square dances, because, he said, he had been swamped with requests from Londoners who wanted to follow the Royal lead. The band-leader even went so far as to consider renaming his band "The Original Canadian Square-Hoppers."

LITTLE BIT OF CANADA

HIS claim to that title may seem a bit slim. But if he succeeds in getting a Canadian "caller"—and judging by the applications that have already poured in from eastern Canada, there seems no dearth of them ready to migrate to London—there may be some justification for the new name.

And as the British public always tends to follow a royal lead, I don't doubt that dance halls all over Britain will soon be resounding to the quaint old "calls" and the gay, infectious rhythm of the square dance. The advent of the "dos-dos" will, of course, necessitate a complete scrapping of the ordinary ballroom technique and a revolution in dress as well.

CANADIAN CAPERS

NOT only will it involve a departure from the long-accepted type of dancing whereby two people take their stand on the floor, then shuffle aimlessly in an inch or two of space while breathing down each other's necks until it is time to go home, but it will also involve a departure from "tails" and "tuxes."

For I defy even the most conservative Briton to feel suitably garbed in white tie and "tails" when called upon to cut such capers as:

"Take your partner by the wrist
And go around the lady with a grapevine twist.
Down the centre with a bow-wow-gee.
And go around that gent that you didn't see."

MAY SHOCK SOME

NOR could I see anything appropriate in a severely formal gown for the execution of this sadistic little suggestion:

"Drop your hands and stop right there.
Kick his shins and make him fall.
And you all stop up and kiss him if you dare."

To some would be square dancers in England those capers, so popular at Canadian "hoe-downs," may come as a bit of shock until they get into the real spirit of the square dance. But unless they pay scrupulous heed to the signals of the "caller," they might just as well forget the whole thing, for it is he who sets the pattern and guides the gyrators through their intricate evolutions.

PROMENADE ALL

ANOTHER thing that the British will have to learn about is a "hoe-down" is that it entirely does away with the custom of dancing with one partner the whole evening. Square dancing is essentially a co-operative enterprise, and it's not a bit of use being "snooty" for that won't get you anywhere when the call comes to:

Circle right, the other way back.
Make your feet go whickety-whack."

Nor can you cling to your own particular beau or best girl when the command comes to:

"Promenade right till you come out straight.
Ladies in the centre and back to the hat.
Gents to the centre and form a hat.
Promenade anywhere, I don't care."

'LITTLE BIT OF CANADA'

BUT WHILE some of those calls to say nothing of the machine-gun tempo of the caller's monotone may jolt some staid Britons at first, I haven't the slightest doubt that many will follow the lead of their Royal Highnesses and thoroughly enjoy the "dos-dos" technique.

Its novelty will come as a breath of fresh invigorating air right from the great open spaces of this Dominion. And I prophesy that, before long, these rollicking square dances with their stentorian "calls" will become so popular over there as to give rise to the legend, "a little bit of Canada," in the dance halls of old England.

'Big Sticks' Of Loggers' Congress

New officers of Pacific Logging Congress were named here Monday night. President is Waldron Hyatt, left, of Hammond Lumber Co., Samoa, Calif., who succeeds Sidney G. Smith, centre, of MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd., Vancouver. At right is Archie "Whiz" Whisnant, Portland, secretary for 27 years who recently was succeeded by Carwin A. Woolley. Tributes were paid him for "job well done." He is now secretary of management committee. Other officers elected: Clyde Corman, Weyerhaeuser Timber Co., Longview, Wash., vice-president; L. H. Mills, Mist Logging Co., Portland, re-elected treasurer. New officers were introduced to convention at Club Sirocco today where business sessions are being held. (Times photo.)

Kenny Fears Future If Timber Cut Grows

Fears for the future of the industry they represent were put gravely before men of the Pacific Logging Congress Monday by Hon. E. T. Kenney, B.C. forest minister.

Throughout the Pacific Northwest . . . with the possible exception of parts of Washington . . . the picture was the same: immensely increasing timber cuts, which new growth did not balance, he told a crowded auditorium at Sirocco Club.

In B.C. the cut had risen from one billion board feet in 1909 to 4.5 billion board feet last year. Oregon harvested about two billion board feet in 1909, and last year about 8 billion. California's crop was 1.5 billion in 1909 and 3.5 billion in 1950.

"One hesitates to think what is going to happen during the next 40 years if this mechanical progress continues," Kenney warned.

Only the state of Washington, Kenney added, had maintained a balance between growth and cut during the past 40 years.

"The minister was warmly received. So was Premier Byron Johnson. Both got a standing ovation."

"I wish you luck and success," the Premier said. But he urged consideration of conservation methods.

Later, E. E. Griggs, II, Tacoma, Wash., told the congress that forest closures last summer in the Douglas fir region of the Pacific Northwest didn't keep operators from setting a new record in cuttings.

"During the first nine months of 1951 a total of 8 1/2 billion board feet were cut," he said. "This compares with the previous record of 7 1/2 billion board feet achieved in 1950."

An open forum session was held on "Development of the Operation." This was led by George L. Drake, Shelton, Wash. Discussion showed that use of aerial photos, increased fire protection and co-operation with recreationists play a big part in setting up a new operation.

However, some B.C. speakers pointed out aerial photos are not so valuable if the rugged Canadian wilderness as in less wild parts of the western U.S.

Penny Mail Is Tuppence Worried Clerks Remind

Christmas is going to cost you more this year. . . . You know that?

But do you know the post office department is concerned? Authorities are afraid card givers will forget that an unsealed card or letter which went through the mails for one penny, these many years, will take a two-cent stamp this Yuletide.

While the new ruling went into effect in April, many people will have forgotten it. Christmas-time forgetfulness may cause delays in mail delivery.

"There are still quite a few people who are surprised when we tell them an unsealed card takes two cents," said one postal worker.

"When we see people buying a large number of one-cent stamps, we remind them of the new ruling."

PREVENTATIVE — In New York, Look magazine says today that Dutch Schultz, the prohibition-era boss who was killed by mobsters in 1935 to prevent him from assassinating Thomas E. Dewey.

This was early in Dewey's career as a racket-busting special prosecutor and his convictions were beginning to shake the underworld. But the "syndicate" led by Louis (Lepke) Buchalter and Lucky Luciano decided against his assassination because it might "blow up the entire national empire of crime," the magazine says.

AFFECTIONATE — In San Francisco two giant bucks clashed antlers today in a furious battle to decide who's going to win the affections of seven soft-eyed does.

The bucks charged and snorted at each other in a renewal of an annual clash begun several years ago when one tried to usurp the sovereignty of the other.

"It's one of those seasonal things," said zoo director Carey Baldwin. "They fight until they get tired."

MERIT — In London Clement Attlee, defeated Socialist prime minister, Monday night received the Order of Merit, one of Britain's most coveted decorations, from the King.

A court circular said that Attlee received the award, designed as a special distinction for eminent men and women, during an audience with the King, now recovering from a lung operation.

The Order of Merit was founded in 1902 and has a limited membership of 24, except for foreign honorary members.

WORRY — In San Diego, Cal., worry over charges that a boy molested her five-year-old daughter might have snapped the mind of Mrs. Hilda S. Kanzie, 35, and caused her to slash the throats of her four children, her husband said today.

Mrs. Kanzie, a former mental hospital inmate, was arraigned Monday in municipal court for murdering her children with a butcher knife early Sunday as they lay sleeping.

She refused to have an attorney appointed to defend her and was ordered held for a preliminary hearing Nov. 28.

SMACKING — In New Boston, Ill., a mother of six children said today she smacked a school principal in the face because "she wouldn't let two of my daughters wear blue jeans to school."

"I can't afford to go and buy a lot of $5 dresses for them," said Mrs. Delbert Ferguson. "Besides, what's wrong with jeans?"

WESTERN — An actor and actress from western Canada, Betty Gillanders of Vancouver, and Murray Westgate of Regina, are in "V For Volunteers," a National Film Board production about Canada's volunteer welfare services.

The movie, directed by Leslie McFarlane of Ottawa, tells the story of a suburban housewife who finds a new purpose and satisfaction in life by helping, once a week, to cope with the problems of her less fortunate neighbors.

SPAT — In Hollywood, Hungarian actress Zsa Zsa Gabor, who parted with her husband, actor George Sanders, in a spat over their part in a radio show, said today the door was open to him "whenever he wants to come back."

Sanders stalked out of their home after his red-haired wife refused to play a role on actress Tallulah Bankhead's radio show because the lines given her "would have made my marriage look ridiculous."

ELIGIBLE — In Las Vegas, Nev., screen star Clark Gable can obtain a quick Nevada divorce any time he wants it, but the actor apparently decided today to let his wife, the former Lady Sylvia Ashley, make the next move in their two-state divorce battle.

Gable became eligible for an uncontested divorce late Monday when his wife failed to file an answer to his suit by a 5 p.m. deadline.

EXCLUDED — In Washington an immigration hearing board refused to parole Emmanuel Rosenthal, 47, ousted Seattle, Wash., symphony director, Monday, pending a decision whether he should be readmitted to this country.

It took under advisement arguments by his lawyer, Joseph Abrams, who asked that Rosenthal be allowed into the country. An order excluding the French musician on grounds of moral turpitude was entered Oct. 13 when he arrived by plane in New York from Europe.

He is being held at Ellis Island.

POISONED — In Hollywood, actress Joan Crawford, three of her adopted children and two servants were recovering today after being stricken with food poisoning at Sunday dinner, her studio discloses. Miss Crawford said she believes a chicken served at the dinner caused the illness.

French-Canadians Used Unfairly, Member Claims

OTTAWA, Nov. 6 (CP) — An Independent member from Quebec was challenged in the Commons Monday to prove a statement that French-Canadian troops in Korea are picked to serve in the most exposed positions and to carry out the most menial chores.

The statement was made by P. E. Gagnon, a 42-year-old merchant, who represents the constituency of Chicoutimi.

The challenge came from Jean Lesage (L. Montmagny, L'Islet), parliamentary assistant to External Affairs Minister Pearson, who said that all United Nations forces in Korea are given equal treatment.

The exchange came during otherwise quiet debate on the speech from the throne. Both spoke in French.

Mr. Gagnon said that Canada cannot assure her defense without the help of French-Canadians. Yet it was humiliating to see the way French-Canadians were treated in the armed forces.

Canada's constitution, he said, should be respected and both French and English should be regarded as official languages in the defense forces. He was anxious to know whether the French language units in the Canadian 27th Brigade, now on its way to Europe will be given orders in French.

WANTS FLAG
He said he also wondered whether they will be singled out as were the French-Canadian troops in Korea to serve in the most exposed positions and to do the most tedious chores.

Mr. Gagnon went on to call for adoption of a national flag and a national anthem, and to urge appointment of Canadian diplomatic representative to the Vatican.

Mr. Lesage, 39-year-old lawyer, asked permission to ask a question. He said Mr. Gagnon's statement was "very serious" and he wondered if the source for the statement could be given. Mr. Gagnon replied that his statement was true; that it was based on reports given him by soldiers returning from Korea.

Mr. Lesage angrily shouted that he challenged Mr. Gagnon to prove his statement before the Commons or withdraw it.

Mr. Gagnon shouted that he had nothing to withdraw.

In the noisy exchange, Leopold

U.S. Storm Still Rages; 201 Dead

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 6 (UP) — A raging snowstorm swept northward from Texas today, dumped a paralyzing blanket of snow over a wide section of the midwest and smothered St. Louis under a record fall.

Public transportation was disrupted. Many schools and factories were forced to close in a belt from Kansas and Oklahoma into Illinois and Indiana. St. Louis was buried under 11 inches of snow, the deepest for Nov. 6 in the city's history. It still was snowing late in the morning.

The new storm was expected to boost the total number of deaths from the record-breaking cold and stormy weather that began last Friday.

The toll stood today at 201, including 135 dead in weather-caused traffic accidents, 19 in fires started by overheated stoves and furnaces, and the remainder from exposure, freezing and miscellaneous mishaps.

U.S. Prices Up, Canadian Level

IT IS COMMONLY SAID THAT prices in Canada have been rising more rapidly than in the United States. This, by the latest figures, is not true. American prices have been rising more rapidly than Canadian.

The Canadian cost-of-living index rose six-tenths of a point in September, the last month of record. In fact prices in general undoubtedly stood still or dropped in that month.

The index takes account only of "list" prices in the stores. It takes no account of the sales and bargains now offered by many stores throughout the nation. In every city, as readers of advertisements in this newspaper know in Victoria, many goods are being offered at bargain prices. These bargains do not appear in the index but they affect the prices paid by every thrifty housewife buying many kinds of manufactured goods.

It can be said, indeed, that almost everywhere the government has enforced credit controls during recent months prices have not risen but in many cases have fallen. This is particularly true of what the economists call semi-durable goods such as automobiles, radios, refrigerators and other household gadgets.

In some cases the stores offer special sales of such things. In other substantial turn-in values are allowed to purchasers on their old-fashioned equipment. The man who can get more for his old car in purchasing a new one than he could get six months ago in fact has received a reduction in price.

If anyone doubts that the government's deflationary policy, through credit controls and the tightening of bank credit, has affected prices, let him ask the merchant. No dealer in semi-durable goods will deny that his business has been affected by the government's policy. In many lines the merchant's problem no longer is to secure sufficient supplies but to sell his present inventories.

It is true that the government's policy does not directly affect foodstuffs, clothing and fuel, since they are not bought on the installment plan, though even these products are indirectly affected by the slower movement of money. But, the whole deflationary policy, while it limps in some fields, has had powerful effects already throughout the economy. Without it prices undoubtedly would have risen far beyond their present level by now.

Observe, however, the situation in the United States which is supposed to be under direct government price control. In the month between Aug. 15 and Sept. 15 the American cost-of-living index rose from 185.5 to 186.6. In roughly the same period the American index was up 1.1 points and the Canadian 0.6 points. The American rise was almost twice that of the Canadian.

Moreover, the American rise was the largest since prices and wages were theoretically "frozen" early in the year. The American freeze is rapidly thawing, as every economist knew it must, lacking strong fiscal measures of deflation.

These measures the United States has yet to take and cannot take so long as its government is running huge deficits, borrowing from the banks and thus creating new money to bid for scarce goods.

At the core of the inflationary problem in the United States stands the government's deficit. Yet the Canadian government's surplus—the most effective single weapon against inflation—is bitterly denounced by the Conservative party which, in the next breath, denounces the government for failing to deal with inflation.

There is no comfort for Canada, however, in the spectacle of American prices rising again after the summer's lull. The new figures may prove that Canadian policy is superior to that of its neighbor but it only means that the general forces of inflation in America, and hence throughout the world, are again in flow. No western nation can escape the effects of the American price level since all trade, directly or indirectly, with the United States. Least of all can this country escape them.

When we import from the United States we must pay its prices, which are handed on to our consumers. When we sell to the United States our exports receive the American price and the Canadian consumer must pay a corresponding price here if he is to receive the goods which otherwise would be sold to the Americans. So the auction sale goes on.

It will go on until, through strong fiscal measures by government or through restraint on the part of the consumers, or both, the United States reduces the supply of money in active circulation to the level of the available goods. Under existing conditions—the indigenous inflationary pressures here and the pressures flowing from the United States—the wonder is not that Canadian prices rose up to September but that they have begun now to level off.

Is The Sentence A Deterrent?

DURING VICTORIA'S RECENT Assizes, four persons stood trial for manslaughter arising from automobile accidents. One was found not guilty. Three others were convicted on the reduced charge of driving in a manner dangerous to the public. Each of the three was fined $300 and deprived of driving privileges in Canada for two years.

The maximum sentence for that offense is two years' imprisonment and a fine not exceeding $1,000.

It is more than a dozen years since amendments were introduced into the Criminal Code permitting the reduction of manslaughter charges to the lesser counts of reckless driving and driving in a manner dangerous to the public in automobile cases. The chief factor in each, as we understand it, is negligence. In cases of gross negligence, the appropriate charge is manslaughter. If the degree of negligence on the part of a motorist is less than gross, either of the two alternatives are justified.

The reason prompting the reduction in the charge may have been the unwillingness of present-day juries to bring in verdicts of guilty in motor manslaughter cases. Most members of juries drive cars. It is logical for them to consider the possibility that they might be involved in an accident leading to that serious charge. In such circumstances, they might be expected to show particular sympathy to a driver, recognizing as they do the hazards of motoring.

Whether that is correct or not, the fact remains that three persons found guilty of driving in a manner dangerous to the public have been fined $300 each and have had their driving privileges suspended. It is not the intention here to judge these cases. It is readily recognized that a driver whose car has killed someone undergoes his or her own punishment as the result of such mishaps. Court-imposed sentences are but part of the penalties. Moreover, circumstances do alter cases.

Nevertheless, three persons were found guilty of driving in a manner dangerous to the public and because of that type of driving, human life has been taken. The moderate sentences imposed cannot be viewed in the light of atonement. What, then, is their purpose? Are they to be considered as deterrents to other drivers who might, without examples before them, fail to exercise proper caution at the wheel of a car? Are a $300 fine and a two years' suspension of driving privileges impressive enough to bring the lesson home?

They Consider The Source

MR. GEORGE DREW WAS DOUBTLESS moved by generous motives when he suggested that action be taken against the Labor Progressive Party for its recent "vicious" pamphlet attacking Prime Minister St. Laurent and his administration.

Mr. St. Laurent unquestionably appreciates the spirit in which the Progressive Conservative leader spoke. The Prime Minister has been wise, however, to leave the pamphlet to the assessment of the Canadian people, firm in the conviction that its contents will injure neither himself nor his government.

Skippy Shows The Way

WHEN A FOOTSOE LITTLE mongrel dog named Skippy whined and pawed at a door in Morris, Minnesota, the other night, he set scientists off on another spurge of baffled speculation.

For the dog had spent the last eight months traveling from Seattle to Morris to catch up with the master who had left him with a new owner when he moved from the coast. How the dog followed that long and hazardous trail we cannot fathom. What strange instinctive power he called upon to guide him is beyond the understanding of man.

These are days of scientific marvels, of mechanical gadgets whose apparent "brain work" astounds us and puts our own mental efforts to shame, of electronic path-finder planes and missiles, of an apparent conquest of time, space and direction.

We are familiar with the magnetic compass and the gyro compass. And we have the amazing development of blind-flying instruments and robot pilots, by which a plane can be brought through fog and darkness along pathways of invisible radiation to its home port.

By some thousands of years of effort man has achieved these things. He asks the rest of creation to take note, and admire.

The rest of creation does, but its admiration, if any, must be well diluted with derision. For with our billions of dollars and millions of man-hours we have only arrived at the point which birds and animals had long ago attained. Homing pigeons and migratory birds, roaming animals and even insects have always astonished us by their ability to find their way over vast distances.

Skippy emulated these feats, but he added a new factor. Eighteen hundred miles and eight months had not been sufficient to deter the dog nor to baffle his instinctive ability. But that ability was equalled by a boundless love and loyalty that let nothing stand in the way of reunion. That, at least, our electronic gadgets can never match.

Chips Off The Old Brock

By DAVID BROCK

A FRIEND of mine recently got back from a trip to England, and was chatting about his trip with the Manxman who is a furniture-polisher in his office. "What!" says the Manxman, "you didn't go to the Isle of Man? Why, you missed the best part of the British Isles, you silly fellow. Still, I do hear that Douglas, the main town there, is simply one mass of hot-dog stands now. Ruined by the tourist trade."

My friend was sympathetic, though he couldn't quite see why the Manxman wanted him to be a tourist and not want anyone else to be a tourist at the same time. "Yes," said my friend, "it's a shame the way they spoil things these days."

"Shame indeed," agreed the Manxman. "Nothing but hot-dogs wherever you go. Hardly any fish-and-chips left at all."

AN M.P. REPORTS

IT SEEMS to me that it was in this very column that I was trying to recall a letter written by an English M.P. to his constituents a couple of hundred years ago. He cursed them in a robust fashion that has now been lost, and I was regretting this loss. I was also regretting my loss of the exact text of the letter, so that I couldn't quote it properly. I have now found it, and I think you had better have it in toto. It was printed in the Shrewsbury Chronicle of Nov. 12, 1774:

"Gentlemen, I have received yours and am surprised at your insolence in troubling me about the Excise. You know what I very well know, that I bought you, and by God I am determined to sell you. And I know, what perhaps you think I do not know, you are now selling yourselves to somebody else. And I know what you do not know, that I am buying another borough. May God's curse light on you all. May your houses be open and common to all Excise Officers as your wives and daughters were to me when I stood for your rascally Corporation. Yours, 'ANTHONY HENLEY.'"

Now, that's the sort of letter an M.P. should write to his rascally constituents. But does he do it today? Not he. Is he even capable of this clear prose? I think not. We have lost a certain vigor, and some kind of curse has lighted on us all indeed. We're born 200 years too late.

SHARKS

I WAS reading, as is my bad habit, an etymological dictionary, which tells me where words are coming from but not where they are going. And I found that the sharks of the sea are thus named because they are very similar to the greedy human parasites called sharks. Not the other way around. Which must be a great disappointment to anyone who fancies the whole force of calling a man a shark lies in likening him to a fish. It wouldn't astound me a bit (any longer) to learn that a wolf is called a wolf because he wofls his food in imitation of my wife's cousin Gordon. Horses (I assume) are called horses because they go in for horse-play, and badgers are badgers because they badger each other. Can it be that the cuckoo is named after the cuckoo clock?

Badgers, by the way, are also called brocks. This is because they are so much like me. But the cuckoo clock is not named after me and neither is the cuckoo. We've arrived, to learn that, at the end of our journey. The cuckoo was driven nuts by the English climate, while the cuckoo clock was driven nuts by the Swiss acting so Swiss. I myself was driven nuts by the seven plagues of Canada, which are two morning papers, three evening ones, one weekly, and a radio station.

WHAT'S THE DIFFERENCE?

I'M huge collection of useless but amusing press-clippings, I find an item reprinted from a broadsheet of 1630, now in Lincoln Cathedral Library. There is only one known copy of this broadsheet. It tells a settler of 1630 what he should take to America among his effects. One item is a hog'shead of malt. But the broadsheet adds that poorer settlers can very well spare this, to be given away, "if they can content themselves with water in the heat of the summer," since the water "is found by much experience to be as wholesome and healthful as beer." In my own experience around New England in the 1930's, I found the beer to be very like brown water, though costlier.

MORE SPLENDID ENTRIES

ANOTHER splendid entry for our Most Unforgettable Experience competition has come in from Mrs. Sholto String. Mrs. String writes to say that her most unforgettable experience was when she was nearly killed in a big steam-roller accident in France.

"I had planned to go to France that very week, and only decided not to go when my bank manager warned me that I was out of funds. What prompted his warning? Fate. Queer things like this so often happen to me. I feel I must be psychic. At this moment I have an uncanny feeling I will win your competition."

And old Brocky himself has a hunch, too. He has a hunch that this competition must now be temporarily closed for repairs.

Wasted Defenses

New York Times

Speaking in Chicago at the National Methodist Conference on Family Life, William J. Faulkner, dean of Fisk University in Nashville, Tenn., stressed the importance of the nation's children. He said:

"And though you fashion for yourselves the most formidable armies, navies and air corps in all the world, and furnish them with the most deadly weapons ever conceived by the minds of gifted men, and yet fail to teach your children reverence for God and man and nature, your vast defenses will crumble before your eyes and your own weapons will be turned against you."

Modern Androcles

Under Our Roof

By HAMISH

This is Hamish again. We haven't been able to get Anastasia-Wiggs-Wiggs away from the telephone since she discovered it is one of those country phones where a whole lot of people are on the same line and each person has a different ring. (Incidentally, the man who usually writes this column sent me a telegram to say he might be coming home any day now, but I didn't have the heart to tell him that Little Augie's goat has taken over the shed where he was living on account of his house was too full of Anastasia and Little Augie and Col. S. Sheffington-Smuts (Ret.) and Mr. Oh, well, there's always my pup tent for him.)

But about this telephone. It is a very chummy gadget, and I think it is a wonderful way for people to get to know each other better. Of course, at the beginning we didn't understand about all the different rings, and I remember when Little Augie went to answer it the first time.

"Good-day," said a voice. "This is Mrs. Twitts speaking. Could you deliver me two dozen eggs and a pound of butter this afternoon?"

"No," said Little Augie, "but I could send you over a couple of cases of extra-special pale ale at a very reasonable price."

When the blind-pig king returned to the living room he was shaking his head. "Can't understand that babe," he muttered. "I offer her some stuff at a real bargain, and she gets insulted. And with the breweries on strike, too!"

Since then, of course, we have learned how the thing works, and now, whenever the telephone rings, Anastasia is there to answer it. That is, she doesn't actually answer. She just picks up the receiver and listens.

"It passes the time," she explained to us.

She has a special chair right by the telephone, and the Colonel (who is hoping to marry her some day as she is quite well-stocked with folding money) brings her meals to her.

She stays there until the rush is over at night, which is quite early in the country—except for one man who keeps trying to get someone called "Maizie"—and then she sits with us in the living room and tells us the events of the day.

It is most interesting. Of course, a lot of it is straight women's stuff, like Mrs. Mittle putting on weight ("My dear, she's one of my best friends, but really she looks absolutely frightful!") and how Mr. Sizzle had an odor on his breath at the last council meeting. (Little Augie says he must be getting it from somebody else. He's not on Little Augie's list.)

Being a student of human nature, I am more interested in the parade of life's little heartbreaks and joys that Anastasia tells us about. The Colonel says it's better than television.

Mrs. Twitts is on our line, and so is Mrs. Mittle and Mrs. Sizzle and several others. And the other day, when Anastasia had dropped asleep in her chair, the telephone rang and I picked up the receiver. Two of the other ladies were talking, and I thought I would prove something to myself, so I suddenly said into the mouthpiece: "Hello! Mrs. Twitts!"

The two ladies were interrupted by a third voice. "Yes, hello."

"Mrs. Mittle?"

"Yes," said a fourth voice.

"Mrs. Sizzle?"

"Yes, what is it?" came from a fifth voice.

So there we were, all of us on the telephone. It really is a chummy gadget.

Gog And Magog

Toronto Globe and Mail

MORE on this side of the Atlantic than elsewhere in the world casual and knowing references are heard to "the typical Englishman." The remark may be applied to any one from Sir Alexander Clutterbuck, High Commissioner from London, to a shopkeeper in Scarborough, proof enough that no one actually knows what the typical Englishman is like. Our own view is that he is Gog and Magog.

For reasons best known to themselves, Londoners in the eleventh century erected two fourteen-foot-high figures fashioned from rushes and coarse matting in the facade of the Guildhall and called them Gog and Magog. Every one adored them. The bodies until what looked like exposed entrails began to frighten children. They were repaired, however, and survived until the great fire of 1688 destroyed them. In 1708 they were replaced by carved figures which survived until the blitz of the last war.

Now the grotesque statues are to be refashioned in their original size. No one ever has said precisely what they are supposed to represent. But we think we know why all Englishmen want them. They represent Cromwell, King John and the naughty barons; Shakespeare, the yeomen, the army, the navy, the universities, including Cardinal Newman; King Arthur and his round table knights; Winston Churchill and his wartime Cabinet; the Sitwell family and Robin Hood, together with your own nominations, all rolled together in two figures.

Somewhere in these legendary twins every islander finds something of the varied capabilities, powers and idiosyncrasies which have fashioned England from before Boadicea right up to Attlee. The fierce Highland chieftain and the perky Cockney alike see their histories in Gog and Magog, to whom the editor of John o' London addresses a weekly letter. And we suspect that every visitor from anywhere on earth to London will be as glad as Britons that the Guildhall will again house these curious symbols.

As Our Readers See It

SOCIAL CREDIT

Social Credit is on the march in B.C. Last week two active Young Liberals in Victoria became disgusted with old-line party activities and came over to the Social Credit Organization, which is growing by leaps and bounds in the rural areas of B.C. This is the beginning! People as a whole are dissatisfied with present conditions and desire righteous government! The principles of Social Credit in operation will bring good government to B.C. and Canada.

EXPRESS THANKS

My wife and I wish to thank our neighbors, members of her children's orchestra, members of the Victoria City Kennel Club, Vancouver Island Dog Fanciers' Association, Greater Victoria Dog Obedience Training Club, and our many, many other friends for their help, gifts, and letters of sympathy which we very greatly appreciate.

It has been a wonderful help to our spirits to receive such aid and expressions of sympathy from so many people after our recent fire.

H. W. MELLISH.

Royal Oak.

IMPORTANT PERSONS

Although some of us may agree that during the Royal visit the children were somewhat kept in the background, not all will endorse Mr. Causey's assertion that "children are very important persons."

It is this unfortunate attitude to our young that has tended to create the unpleasant traits one encounters sadly too often these days.

Children, like adults, are only "important" if they contribute as they are able to the welfare of their fellow creatures.

Statements like your correspondent's encourage children to believe that they need consider nobody but themselves.

Training, discipline, are needed before any child can become "a very, very important person," or even a person of any importance at all.

MRS. L. F. HEYWOOD.

Tudor Road.

BLIME!

I am a visiting Englishman and would like to reply to the criticism that has filled your columns regarding the manner in which your English-born mayor conducted the greeting and reception of the Royal couple.

It was in the most proper English manner, and I, an Englishman, would be pleased to hear him speaking the way English words should be spoken. It wouldn't be nice or proper to address them in your hard to understand Canadian accent which Canadians have copied or aped from their American friends.

Regarding the children, they are always kept in the background in functions of this kind, and rightly so.

It made me feel so good that here in Victoria, so far from our motherland we have Englishmen, who have not forgotten their English bringing up, traditions and manners and through their efforts keep Canada English.

ADRIAN PERCIVAL BARNSTEAD.

COST OF LIVING

Mr. Cadwallader I consider has touched upon a vital factor in the cost of living when he says that the crescendo of trades union strikes which have plagued us over the years, is one of the reasons and that the unions could become the Dominion's greatest economic factor if they would use their strength in demanding an immediate reduction in the cost of living.

By so doing, they would not only benefit their members whom they represent but also the vast number of other people particularly those who are now living on small pensions and small fixed incomes and have not the benefit of such organizations to represent their interests.

Ups And Downs

By BRIAN TOBIN

"IT SEEMS," said the Elevator Man, "that one of the most universal laws of nature is the law of diminishing returns. It crops up in a hundred different ways. A farmer puts fertilizer on his land and gets a certain crop. Next time he puts twice as much on but doesn't get twice the crop. The law has started to operate. A mother scolds her youngster to make him do something. If she follows the system consistently, she finds it takes more and more scolding to get the same amount of work out of him. The rate of return per scold goes down. A fella feels great after drinking a bottle of beer. He feels twice as great after a second bottle. But he doesn't feel four times as great after four bottles, or eight, or ten. He's on the skids of diminishing returns. Going down!"

"Even science," said the Elevator Man, "can't get around it. I see where they're finding out that the new wonder drugs are losing their effectiveness. Tests have shown that where a certain amount of penicillin, for instance, once killed 70 per cent of the germs exposed to it, now it kills only about 40 per cent. The bugs are becoming immunized and it takes more and more of the drug to get the same results. Diminishing returns. We're going to have to breed weaker germs if we're going to make any headway in controlling them. Lower main!"

"Then," said the Elevator Man, "there's a more homely aspect of it. It seems two ex-servicemen were talking about the approaching wedding of a friend. 'He's getting a wonderful girl,' said one. 'She can swim, ride, drive a car, play tennis and golf, pilot a plane—she's a real all-round girl.' 'Yes,' says the other. 'They should get along fine together. You remember, Bill learned to cook in the army.'"

Kenney Says Time Ripe For Building Oil Line

The time is opportune for construction of an oil pipeline to the Pacific Coast, Lands and Forests Minister E. T. Kenney said in a radio address Monday night.

"The logical and economic outlet, of course, is Vancouver," said Kenney.

The minister said the recent strike near Fort St. John indicates strongly a new petroleum field.

Turning to the proposed gas pipeline from Alberta, the minister said the line could be laid through the mountains on a fairly direct line to Vancouver with outlets at Prince George, Quesnel, Lilloet, Lytton and other towns.

"The advent of this cheap, clean fuel would assist much in the development of all areas along the way," said Kenney.

In ten years... with bigger staffs and higher wages, payrolls have jumped from $40 million a year to $102 million

... taxes, federal, provincial and municipal, have risen from $9.5 million to $20.7 million a year

And these are only three of many expense items. Yes, today more than ever, it costs money to run a bank.

HOME GARDEN

by Jack Beasall

A border of perennials can be the feature attraction of any garden. Every home gardener has attempted such a planting, but few of us attain the picture we have in mind.

As with all plantings in the garden, a perennial border should express the individual. The beauty of some borders lies in their stiffness, neatness and austerity; others are overflowing with color and foliage. Either of these, and all intermediate forms, have a charm of their own.

While individual expression in the garden should never be stifled, there are certain requirements which must be met if the perennial border is to produce the desired effect on those who view it. The biggest drawback to the home gardener is lack of space. For effect, the minimum width should be seven feet, increasing from that to suit the plant material being used.

A suitable area may often be obtained by removing a central path and placing it 10 or 12 feet from the property line so as to form a border on one side and a wide vegetable garden on the other.

Jack

Preparation of the soil is important. The subjects are called "perennials"—meaning long lasting—and as such they need depth of soil for rooting and a food supply for at least five years. The first requisites therefore, are deep digging and the incorporation of large quantities of humus. Layout is next in importance. Tall subjects at the back and low in front is correct, but some of the tall plants should step out of line and come forward, and the low ones should wander into the central and rear ranks. The contour of the waterfront, as viewed westerly from the shelter in Beacon Hill Park, gives an excellent illustration of high points jutting out and low bays nestling between.

Place the subjects so that some color is present over the entire length of the border at all seasons; use groups of boulders for long-flowering rock plants requiring a cool root run. Consider the ultimate size of each plant and leave sufficient space for cultivation and tending in spring and fall. The spaces may be filled with flowering annuals for summer, thus presenting a different overall picture each year.

Hate Turning Egypt To Russia

Britain is the scapegoat in Egypt, Dr. Giovanni Costigan, professor of history at University of Washington, declared Monday night in an address to a University Extension Association meeting at Victoria College.

Egypt, he said, is alive with discontent and dissatisfaction. Those in control, in order to avoid rioting against themselves, are carefully and skillfully directing the tide of unrest against the British.

If the British were not there to serve as the target, Dr. Costigan said, those in control would more than likely set the Arab mobs upon the Jews in Palestine.

"But it is far safer to defy Britain than to tangle again with Israel," Dr. Costigan said. "And they realize this is the time to do it, with Russia looming its dark shape in the background of world affairs. The Arab government is flirting with Communism because it hopes to find a strong champion there."

Dr. Costigan's reflections on the Near East were presented in an hour and a half long talk on a visit to that part of the world made this summer. For more than two months he traveled in Egypt, Lebanon, Syria, Jordan, Israel and Cyprus.

In his address, he talked mainly of Egypt, explaining it as the unquestionable leader of the seven Arab states, with more than half of the world's 40,000,000 Arab population.

Egypt, Dr. Costigan described as a country of abject desolation and misery. He told of the unimaginable poverty of slum areas in the larger cities and of Arab villages which he saw as "dark, appalling refuse heaps, where jackals are the only scavengers."

The present state of open rioting against Britain was brewing during the months he was in the country, Dr. Costigan explained.

"My first impression was of the intense hatred the Arabs had for the west. Their glances for anyone of white skin were charged with utter contempt. Looks would have killed if the persons who looked were free to kill."

In a casual walk through a sidestreet in Cairo, I was insulted, spat upon, stoned by little children. One had the feeling violence might erupt at any moment."

The speaker attributed the Arabs' hatred for the western world to four main causes: their newborn feeling of nationalism, their surging spirit of religious fanaticism, and their wretched physical condition.

He dealt at length on these four points.

The Arab's feeling of nationalism, he said, came alive only 70 years ago when British ships bombarded Alexandria. The cry then went up: "Egypt for the Egyptians."

Egyptians have control today but are unworthy of it, the speaker declared. Administration is corrupt. The magnificent civil service left as a legacy by the British Colonial Office has fallen into decay.

On the matter of racialism, the doctor held western nations to blame for this trouble.

On the matter of religion, Dr. Costigan described a fanatical Moslem revival in the Arab world, which is arousing the masses for a holy war.

Dr. Costigan observed in passing that the United States was encouraging the Moslem revival in Turkey, hoping it would serve as a bulwark against Communism. He held this to be a very short-sighted policy on the part of the American government.

Fraud Mastermind Technique Exposed

The long chain of victims of a master fraud technician, Clyde Gillies, have little hope left of recovering their losses. This was revealed Monday afternoon in a report released by the police commission dealing with the extensive investigations into the Gillies case.

It was the outcome of demands by Inspector Carl Ledoux of the made by victim William A. Scott, Victoria; and others who fell prey to the Gillies' "charm" that a probe be conducted to determine if the imprisoned man had any assets left which they could claim.

JOINT EFFORT
The commission report was a synopsis of investigations made by Inspector Carl Ledoux of the R.C.M.P. and Detective Louis Callan of the city police department, as ordered by Attorney-General Gordon Wismer.

The investigation report contained 35 closely-typed pages and 46 pages of exhibits. Some 30 persons were interviewed in Victoria, Vancouver and as far east as Toronto.

Both in Victoria and Vancouver, Gillies' method of operation was to secure a trusting victim and ingratiate himself to the point where he would be entrusted with funds for some kind of investment. Mostly Gillies accepted loans, which he promised to repay with a bonus. This continued until the victim's funds were exhausted, the police board report said.

VICTORIA SUSPICION

The report tells how the Victoria Chief of Police alerted Vancouver police to keep an eye on Gillies.

Vancouver investigators revealed that Gillies "lived high". They reported "in addition to keeping his own family, he was maintaining other persons in separate establishments, entertained liberally at night clubs, and generally spending money freely."

Vancouver detectives believe Gillies has no assets but his operations there netted $18,000 in 15 months.

"The report indicates that very few of his victims got their funds or assets back" because of the chain-type dealings of the confidence man "and therefore the aggregate losses would not reach such a large sum as Gillies would like one to believe," the commission quoted the investigating team.

The suggestion of the investigators that the city probe the frauds to the utmost brought this reply from the commission: "It is not feasible by reason of the fact that the city has not got the facilities that are needed to do so, nor is it the city's duty to go that far." The board points out that Gillies became a full responsibility of the province once he had been committed for trial. "This commission... now declares the matter closed in so far as the city is concerned," the report concluded.

F "99"

Authentic photograph of R. R. Obermaier on March 17, before treatment with F "99".

Authentic photograph of R. R. Obermaier on June 5, after 10 weeks' treatment with F "99".

EMINENT Scientists have discovered that the lack of unsaturated fatty acids in human nutrition is one of the main causes of skin diseases, such as Eczemas, Boils, Leg Ulcers and Psoriasis. The modern diet, in which these essential substances are often completely lacking, have brought about a deficiency in a great number of individuals.

Remarkable Swiss Discovery

A Swiss chemist, Dr. W. Schmitz, succeeded after 10 years of research work in extracting from pure vegetable oils an unsaturated fatty acid in a concentration of 99% and therefore named F "99". Thanks to this hitherto unattained purity, F "99" is so readily absorbed into the blood stream, that it has a decisive biological activity in the treatment of skin diseases.

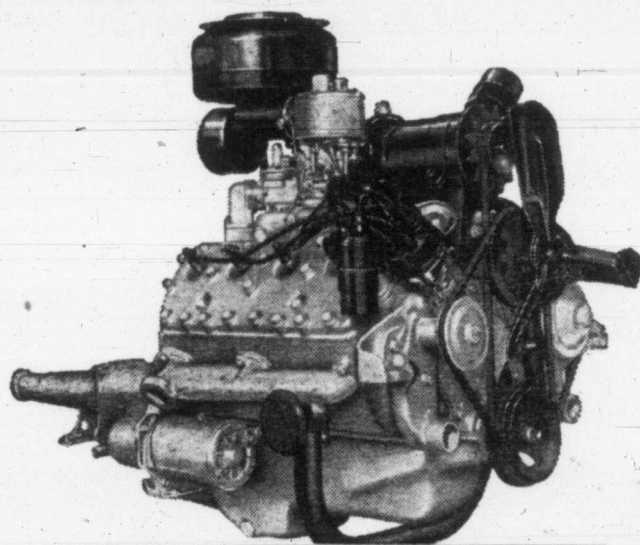

Natural way to clear up skin troubles
F "99" is not a synthetic drug but a concentrate of natural nutritive substances. It is so harmless that it may be given even to infants without any hesitation. Its remarkable efficiency in the treatment of Eczemas, Boils, Leg Ulcers and Psoriasis has astonished even Skin Specialists of international reputation. As its name suggests, the F "99" Two-Way Treatment acts internally as well as externally. While F "99" Capsules or Liquid give the body the power to suppress the cause and combat successfully skin disease, the F "99" Ointment treats its external, visible symptoms. To many thousands of skin sufferers all over the world, F "99" Two-Way Treatment has already proved its tremendous value and is being used with outstanding results even on cases where all ordinary treatments have failed. In severe cases medical advice should always be taken.

Oil Strike Vindicates Judgment of T. D. Pattullo

Hon. T. D. Pattullo, former British Columbia premier, is all smiles these days. The reason is the oil strike near Fort St. John—the first discovery in the province. It was Pattullo, during his reign of office, who was instrumental in having the government spending $700,000 drilling a well at Commotion Creek which never blew in. Commotion Creek is west of last week's discovery.

Island Man Sees Inside Soviet

Russians know a lot about Canada and want Canadians to be their friends, says a Nanaimo man just back from a month-long tour of the U.S.S.R.

Allister McLeod made the trip with a labor union group from various parts of Canada. There were two other British Columbians in the party.

He explained an invitation for a Canadian group to visit the U.S.S.R. was sent by the All-Union Central Trade Council of Russia to the Canadian-Soviet Friendship Society, which, he said, asked various Canadian trade councils to name representatives.

He said he was picked to represent Vancouver Island. McLeod said he was surprised how much Russians knew about Canada. He said much of their information came from Canadian newspapers.

He saw a number of Canadian papers among 360 foreign publications on file in the library of the All-Union Central Trade Council in Moscow.

McLeod said he had no complaints about the treatment given the Canadian group. "They treated us quite hospitably."

In discussing Canadian affairs with Russians, McLeod said he found no trace of any ill feeling for Canadians.

"Any faults we have, they attribute to the inequalities of capitalism," McLeod said. "They have no grievance against the people. Russians are humanitarians."

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor

ABOUT PEOPLE AND THINGS—The Victoria Cougars are still winning more games than they're losing but the present club is not a patch on last year's champions. . . . The weaknesses are on the wings of the second and third forward lines, the No. 1 unit being the "Kid Line". . . . Eddie Dorohoy, who is filling in for Reg Abbott, is about two steps behind the other kids. . . . Once he connects on the new timing needed this reformed unit should sparkle.

Coach Roger Leger would still like at least one more bone-crushing defenseman. . . . "Too many opposing forwards are skating across the line with their heads down."

Saskatoon goalie Lorne Worsley is receiving much of the credit for the Quakers' showing.

See where the Individuals are going to ask for fan support before completing their Inter-city League schedule. . . . It's up to the fans from now on. . . . According to reports emanating from the prairies the Edmonton Flyers make the Saskatoon Quakers look like sissies when it comes to playing rough hockey. . . . But then there's two sides to every question.

Wasn't it just about this time last year that Walker Jerry Coteau was sitting on the bench while Hee Highton performed in the Cougar nets. . . . Eddie Murphy, who set a W.L.L. record for stolen bases with 90 this past season, was recently released from hospital after removal of bone spurs on both feet. . . . Watch the Spokane gardener go next year. . . .

Totems Meet Alberni, Travel To Mainland

Victoria High School Totems will be out to avenge last year's defeat at the hands of Port Alberni cagers Thursday night when they play host to the upland squad in their second home game of the year.

Alberni, who last year won the Vancouver Island basketball championship have, with the exception of Don "Twitter" Hill who has obtained a scholarship to the University of Oregon, last season's club intact. New additions are Williamson and Mosdell, two outstanding players up from the junior ranks.

The remainder of the Alberni team includes Gray, Nicol, Groholski, Schick, Pennington and Frost.

Although coach Porky Andrews has not as yet named his team, it will in all probability vary only slightly from the squad which bowed to Ex-Totems Friday.

Once again the cheer leaders, the 20-piece brass band and the V.H.S. majorettes will provide the spectators with a variety of entertainment.

Holders of booster passes will be admitted free. Booster passes will be on sale at the door. This pass will admit the holder to the Totems' five remaining home games before Christmas.

Following Thursday's game Totems will take the midnight boat to Vancouver where they will play games on Friday and Saturday night.

Hunter Trials Provide Excitement

Five events of horsemanship provided plenty of excitement and fun at the Madronas Hunter Trials and Western Pony Races. The trials were held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin R. Jackson, Sunday, and all events, staged by the City Horsemen's Club and the Western Horsemen's Club, went off like clockwork.

Events included the hunter pairs, working hunter trials, handy hunter trials, quarter-mile scurry, and the pony express.

Trophies were presented to the winners by Mrs. Edwin Jackson.

Captain J. D. Prentice, president of the Garden City Club, was convener, and Geoff Bigelow acted as master of ceremonies.

Winners follow:

Hunter pairs: 1. Mrs. Wendy Hunt of Dunsmuir, on Flash, and Mrs. E. Lister, on Grey Dawn; 2. Mr. Howard Donagan on Timber Topper and Mr. C. C. Carpenter on Polly; 3. Mr. Bob Shanks on Fancy Free and Mr. Fred Ball on Bear.

Working hunter trial: Mr. C. C. Carpenter on Polly; Mr. Howard Donagan on Timber Topper and Mrs. Wendy Hunt on Grey Dawn.

Pony express: 1. Mr. George Porter on Corby; 2. Mr. L. L. Lister on Corby and Mr. George McGee on Ding Ding; 3. Mr. Bill Westwood on Silver Thread; 4. Mr. Eric Crawford on Fred; and Mr. Fred Ball on Sahara; 5. Mr. Harry C. Walker on Cherokee; 6. Bob Owens on Cindy and Mr. B. L. Smith on Bonny.

Juvenile Puck-Blockers Work Out In Preparation For Busy Season

The Victoria Cougars are carrying two goal-keepers at present and it is anyone's guess which one will be the permanent fixture. If the Cougars cannot decide which one is the best man for the job, the local juvenile league has a host of goalies who would give their best set of knee-pads for one chance to work out with the Cougars. Among the 60 juveniles who attended the juvenile practice at Memorial Arena Monday night were five goalies, all of whom showed great style. Bundled up in their goalie's armor are, left to right, Chummy Crabbe, Allan Moore, George Hall, Dave Parker and Doug Green.

NEW IDEAS ADVANCED

'World Series' Sought In Golf

By WILL GRIMSLEY

PINEHURST, N.C., Nov. 6 (AP).—Most men associated with professional golf seem to fear the multi-million-dollar sport is becoming anaemic through lack of new ideas. Every body is looking for a stimulant.

Joe Novak, president of the Professional Golfers' Association, would like to see a links world series bringing together the winners of the 40-odd weekly tournaments on the P.G.A. circuit.

Ken Murray, president of the Canadian P.G.A., was here during the week-end trying to talk the United States P.G.A. into a series of matches between the two countries patterned after the Ryder Cup.

There also is the suggestion—advanced by Gene Sarazen and supported by others except Britain—that Britain make its Ryder Cup team of Empire scope, bringing in such stars as Bobby Locke of South Africa, Norman Von Nida and Peter Thompson of Australia and Stan Leonard of Vancouver.

Just what can be done about these ideas remains to be seen, but this much is sure—things are cooking in professional golf.

CANADIAN-U.S. MATCHES

Murray conferred with P.G.A. officials about a Canadian-U.S. golf series on off-Ryder Cup years. He didn't get too much encouragement but there's thought something may be arranged in connection with the Canadian Open.

As for Britain's Ryder Cup team, Sarazen says the boys from across the Atlantic will never win the trophy from the U.S. until it reaches out and encompasses the rest of the empire on the team. "They call these men to help fight wars for them," he said. "They should open their sports programs to them as well."

Britain draws her cup players from the island's 50,000,000 population, compared with the U.S. 150,000,000.

Duncan Sparks Orphans Win

Billy Duncan scored 14 points to lead the Orphans to a decisive 45-22 win over Warriors in a Sanich and Suburban Basketball League tilt at Fraser Street Hall Monday night.

Orphans are undefeated this season.

DELTA TAKES AUSSIE CLASSIC

MELBOURNE, Nov. 6 (AP).—Delta, a 10-to-1 shot, closed fast in the last furlong today to win the Melbourne Cup race—Australia's biggest race—in an exciting finish with Akbar after the favorite, Morse Code, had fallen in the stretch.

Akbar, a New Zealand gelding which went off at 7 to 1 apparently had the two-mile race won before Delta surged up to finish first by three-quarters of a length.

Delta, a five-year-old Australian son of Midstream-Gazza, toted 133 pounds to 118 for Akbar.

Silvestri May Play No More

SEATTLE, Nov. 6 (CP).—Larry Silvestri, winger for Seattle Ironmen of the Pacific Coast Hockey League, may be out of hockey for life, his doctor said last night.

Silvestri received a ruptured kidney Sunday night in a collision with a Calgary player. His doctor said the injury will keep Silvestri out of play for the remainder of the season at least and possibly prevent him from ever returning to hockey.

An operation was performed Monday in an attempt to save the injured kidney.

Y'S DON WILSON NAMED ALDOUS TROPHY WINNER

Don Wilson, an athlete whose career was thought to be at an end 18 months ago, was chosen as 1951 winner of the Aldous Trophy.

The Aldous Trophy was donated by the 1933 Y.M.C.A. track team and is awarded to the team member by his teammates as having made the greatest contribution to the "Y" track team during the year.

Wilson suffered a broken vertebrae in a diving accident in a 1950 swim gala and since then has made a remarkable comeback as a jumper and polevaulter.

He is a most ardent worker when preparing for track meets and spends much of his time aiding coach Bruce Humber with the jumpers.

The award was made to Wilson Monday night at the Y.M.C.A. as 21 "Y" members started their first in a series of indoor workouts of the winter season.

Oak Bay Hands Blacks First Prep Rugby Defeat

Vic High lost first game in four starts Monday, bowing 6-0 to Oak Bay in an Inter-High Junior Rugby League contest at Windsor Park. Oak Bay is now in a first-place tie with the Blacks.

Also at Windsor Park, Esquimalt High School blanked the cellar-dwelling Vic High 8-0, for their first win of the season.

Oak Bay held the edge through the game, scoring their first points on an unconverted try by McReade, completing the shut-out in the second half on a penalty kick by Colin Creighton.

Esquimalt picked up its points on a try by Glover and a conversion by Bennett in the first half, and an unconverted try by Stevenson in the last stanza. Goals played the game four men short.

Medal Round To Marg Todd

Mrs. Margaret Todd carded a six-over-par 82 at Uplands Golf Club Sunday to win low gross honors in the city medal competition for women golfers with handicaps of 15 and under.

Mrs. H. G. Mearns was low net winner with a 75, three strokes less than Mrs. V. S. Godfrey.

The next medal round will be a turkey competition at the Gorge Vale Golf Club Nov. 13.

SEASON TWO WEEKS OFF

Ice Nippers Rarin' To Go

Clear the ice and unbolt the equipment room, the kids are honing their skates for a big season.

In about two weeks, Memorial Arena is going to look like a boys' school. Actually it is a boys' school—a school for future hockey stars. The great flurry of excitement and activity around the arena is caused by preparations for the opening of the minor hockey season.

The juveniles held their first practice Monday night and it is hoped that teams will be chosen Thursday night. The clubs are picked by coaches and supervisors of each division. Thursday is the final day for registration in the juvenile loop.

The Greater Victoria Minor Hockey Association, under the presidency of energetic Doug Fletcher, is composed of five divisions: Peeewees, for players under 12; Bantam, under 14; Midget, under 16; Juvenile, under 18, and Junior, under 20.

Last year there were 90 boys in the Peeewe League, 106 in the Bantam and Midget division, 85 in Juvenile and 15 in Junior.

All a kid needs to get in the minor hockey set-up is the desire to play hockey, a stick and skates. The association has an equipment room containing over $8,000 worth of pads and uniforms which are assigned to the players for every game and practice.

And best of all, there are still plenty of positions wide open on teams for kids who hope to make their names famous in Canada's greatest sport.

COUGARS BEGIN RUGGED JAUNT

Victoria Cougars open their toughest road test of the season tonight at Vancouver.

Following the game with Canucks, Cougars move to Seattle Wednesday night, return home Friday against the Ironmen; take on Royals in New Westminster Saturday; play in Calgary Monday; Edmonton Tuesday, and Saskatoon Nov. 14.

The club is at home to Tacoma Nov. 16 and off to Seattle Nov. 18, for an overall total of nine games in 13 nights, seven on the road.

Coleman's Column

By JIM COLEMAN

There is a small plot of real estate, immediately adjacent to western sideline in University of Toronto Stadium. This plot, which encompasses only 10 or 15 square yards will be known hereafter as "Karpuk's Bone Yard."

Karpuk has chosen that particular spot on which to commit some act which brings him athletic immortality. Mr. Karpuk, as you've probably read in the journals by now, is a football player in the employ of the Ottawa Rough Riders. However, at heart, Mr. Karpuk must be a ham actor because he has a remarkable ability for projecting himself into the limelight.

Here's the case. Your Honor:

On the afternoon of Saturday, November 26, 1948, Mr. Karpuk was playing for the Ottawa Rough Riders in the Grey Cup final against the Calgary Stampede. It was a very even game until the time that Mr. Karpuk got into the act. Then it happened—right on that same spot of ground, Your Honor. You could almost have leaned over the sidelines from the Ottawa bench and touched the ball. Your Honor. It was a fumbled ball, you see, fumbled by the Ottawas on an end run. Mr. Karpuk must burst right out laughing every he thinks of that ball fumbled back at him. Mr. Karpuk put up his guard and waited for the ball to make the first offensive move. The ball growled and Mr. Karpuk retreated two steps.

At this juncture, Woodrow Wilson Strode, a large amiable chap in the employ of the Calgary Stampede, stroled on the scene. Mr. Strode was a study in scarlet and white as he observed the touching tableau involving Mr. Karpuk and the ball. Mr. Strode pointed to the ball; then pointed to himself and asked Mr. Karpuk politely: "Do you mind, old chap?"

"Not at all," replied Mr. Karpuk, who, if nothing else, is the soul of hospitality.

Now Was That A Nice Thing To Do?

Mr. Strode bowed in Chesterfieldian fashion, picked up the ball and sauntered down the sideline in the general direction of the Ottawa goal.

"Nice fellow," said Mr. Karpuk as he watched him go.

It was until he had reached the 12-yard line that the Ottawas realized that Mr. Strode wasn't just out for a stroll. "Zounds," they screamed, "pursue him relentlessly!"

But the dirty deed had been committed. Although Mr. Strode was shoved out of bounds, Calgary scored a touchdown on the next play and touched off the biggest celebration in the history of Canadian football.

Some hours later, Karpuk still was staring at a hole in the dressing-room floor. Over and over to himself, he said: "Imagine a nice fellow like Mr. Strode playing a trick like that on me!"

That night, going back to Ottawa, Mr. Karpuk must assigned his customary upper berth. He was assigned to the hammock in the upper berth.

He's Not One To Let A Chance Go By

Mr. Karpuk still was trying to fit the pieces together last Saturday afternoon as he sat on the Ottawa bench. He was staring at the plot of ground known as "Karpuk's Bone Yard."

Suddenly, Mr. Ulysses Curtis, of the Toronto Argonauts, sped across Mr. Karpuk's line of vision, carrying the ball in a celeritous and reckless fashion.

It was fairly understandable that Mr. Karpuk should mistake Mr. Curtis for Mr. Strode—particularly when travelling at high speed.

In any event, Mr. Karpuk jumped off the Ottawa bench, raced onto the field yelling: "Hey, Mr. Strode—just a minute, Mr. Strode!"

Naturally, Mr. Curtis didn't slow down and Mr. Karpuk was forced to tackle him.

As they lay on the ground, Mr. Karpuk said sorrowfully: "I just wanted to tell you that you played a very dirty trick on me right here in 1948, Mr. Strode."

"Who the dickens is Strode?" muttered Mr. Curtis sulkily as he spat a large piece of sod out of his mouth.

It was then that Mr. Karpuk realized his mistake and he walked back to the Ottawa bench, a very chastened fellow indeed. And, all the little boys in the grandstand made snowballs and struck Mr. Karpuk on the head with the snowballs. And some of the Old Grads, who were all mugged up with the grape, picked up pieces of furniture and old bottles, empty of course, and tried to strike Mr. Karpuk on the head, too.

Quelle rhuah? Quelle horreur! Quelle clambake!

Rotary's 'Loveliest Night' Tops

By AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON
If not "the loveliest night of the year," Monday was certainly one of the best for Victoria's Rotarians.

They had good entertainment in their all-pro vaudeville show; a full house to appreciate it and pile up money for their two special charities—Salvation Army and Solarium—and they discovered that certain of their fellows have hidden talent!

The Royal Theatre quivered with applause and laughter as four Rotarians—George Warren, D. J. Proudfoot, George Duck and Bill Clarke, climbed up on the stage and did what appeared to "come natchery" with an assortment of musical instruments.

George Warren turned out to have everything it takes to play the bagpipes, including an educated foot and a pair of brave legs. "Hotlips" Proudfoot—as he was hailed—really "sent" his audience with some wild licks from the trombone.

"Don George and Co." presented some of the most enchanting and skillful marionettes this reviewer has ever seen. It was a miniature revue within a revue and almost worth the price of admission in itself.

"Dance Mad Caps," featured the Burns Twins and Evelyn. The boys gave a fine demonstration of high-speed tapping, vitality and co-ordination; but the dainty little blonde who did a brilliant routine entirely on points was one of the high spots of the show.

Jerry Coe's tambourine performance was really something to see; more breath-taking and original than his accordion playing.

Other turns were routine, with the exception of m.c. Jack Marshall, who was superbly funny as he brought the show to a hysterical conclusion.

There were moments when it seemed vaudeville better in the days when the performers did not have a microphone to hug. They had to rely on their own ability to "project" then, and the audience was spared what seems to be an inevitable distortion of the human voice.

An orchestra made up of members of the Victoria Symphony supported the artists smartly. But how about going a little easier with Warner & Leigh, the "Sweethearts of Song" boys? This almost developed into a contest with the orchestra coming out on top.

The show will be repeated tonight.

Who's For A Hay Ride? But Stand By For Bumps And Dumps!

It happened twice. Two high-piled loads of hay spilled Monday. Both were driven by East Indians. The first, above, was scattered in the usually crowded roundabout and confounded drivers. No one was hurt and the load was salvaged.

The second accident was more serious, but here, too, there were no injuries. This time the load met a train on a level crossing. Katar Singh, driver, and his son, Kella, of 830 Queens, were dumped with their hay at Burnside, near Admirals.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

British Columbia's brewery strike ends its second week to night with no settlement in sight. On the mainland, thirsty Vancouverites are reported to be driving to the U.S. for "suds."

The strike, between members of the International Union of Brewery and Distillery Workers (C.C.L.) and four breweries, is over wages. The union wants a raise of 35 cents an hour. The companies have only offered 25 cents.

Local 279 of the Retail Clerks' Union has received notification from the B.C. Labor Relations Board that it has been certified to bargain for 17 employees at Dick's Dress Shoppe, 1324 Douglas Street.

John Aubrey, business agent for the local, said today the union would apply immediately for a conciliation officer to assist in negotiating a contract with E. Mallek, owner of the store.

A drive is under way to rehabilitate Mr. and Mrs. John Dart and their baby son who lost their home in a Florence Lake fire Sunday.

Funds, bedding and clothing are being sought from friends by the members of the Dockyard Civil Service Association, of which Dart, an ex-navy man, is a member.

Donations can be left at the home of Esquimalt Councillor Jack Carey, 505 Esquimalt Road. The telephone number is B-2301.

Reeve Says 'Yes' To Fluoridation

A movement to add a new chemical, sodium fluoride, to the city's drinking water supply, gained further momentum in Greater Victoria today.

The movement for fluoridation began here after the American Dental Association went on record as favoring adding the chemical to public water supplies to prevent the tooth decay, especially among young children.

First public official to express himself in favor of the scheme is Reeve P. A. Gibbs, Oak Bay, who was one of the strongest opponents of the use of chlorine in the city's water supply.

"I'm inclined to favor fluoridation," said the reeve. "But of course it would depend on the recommendations of the health officials."

The reeve said he would prefer to see sodium fluoride added to the water rather than chlorine.

Mayor Percy George said he had not considered the matter yet, nor had he discussed the question with health authorities. The greatest boost for fluoridation came from Ralph Davis, chairman of the Greater Victoria Water District.

"I'm all for it," he said, "but I haven't got any say in the matter. Such a scheme would depend on the various municipal policies."

Mr. Davis said fluoridation would cost taxpayers between 13 and 20 cents a year.

"The machinery could easily be set up here," he said. "Just what the equipment would cost I don't know."

Health officials commented that 20 cents a year was a small tax compared with the average $20 dental bill.

Automatic Wage Rise Abandoned

C.C.L. machinists at V.M.D. and Yarrows voted unanimously Monday night to accept a 17½-cent-an-hour interim wage adjustment offered them by the shipyards.

They did so even though acceptance meant giving up escalator clause benefits provided by the existing work contract with the yards, which could have continued until August, 1952.

The escalator clause, calling for a one-cent hourly rise in pay for every point rise in the cost of living, had netted members of Local No. 3, Machinists, Fitters and Helpers' Union, 22 cents increase in hourly pay during the last year.

The clause was the union's protection against rising costs.

"We never asked for this interim adjustment," Jack Cornthwaite, union spokesman, said. "It was offered us by the companies."

The increase puts the hourly rate of journeymen at $1.90 an hour, the same as boilermakers.

The new machinists' rate is expected to take effect immediately, too, at H.M.C. Dockyard.

Though not covered by a work contract, the 180 machinists employed by the naval service are assured of the same pay and working conditions as apply in local shipyards.

LITTLE MAN, BIG JOB

Loggers Match Cost Against Production

By DICK PAUL
A slight, gray-haired British Columbian regarded as one of the foremost authorities on power saw operations in North America, told the second session of the 42nd Logging Congress here some of his problems today.

J. W. "Jack" Challenger, who scarcely comes up to the shoulders of some of the towering delegates, stated the foremost problem is "how to get timber felled and bucked at the lowest cost under present-day conditions."

The Sirocco Club, session headquarters, was packed with operators from U.S. western states and B.C. as the second day's parley got underway, with the panel directed by Challenger, superintendent of MacMillan and Bloedel's Menzies Bay operation.

SOARING LABOR COSTS

Challenger said rising cost of labor, safety, maintenance and other problems, were to be considered in the main problem. Wages of contract fallers and buckers had risen from about $6.25 a day in 1939 to $25 a day now, and wages of hook tenders had jumped during the same period from $7.50 to $17 daily, he said.

Introducing Challenger, retiring president Sidney G. Smith, of Vancouver, said "Jack" was instrumental in having the German Still-type saws developed until they "snowballed" production in the Canadian and U.S. woods.

Power saw gangs, with bucking machines, now turn out 13,000 board feet per man per day, whereas the average hand gang turned out only about 7,000 board feet per man per day, Challenger said. This makes for a 40 per cent gain in efficiency, he said.

A panel on "Yarding and Loading," with Robert P. Conklin, Cascades Plywood Corp., Portland, as leader, was underway this afternoon.

A cocktail party and entertainment program will be staged by the congress tonight at 6 at Crystal Garden. Third and final business session will open at 9:30 Wednesday morning, with the loggers' jamboree closing the convention activities Wednesday night at the Empress Hotel.

Editors of two trade publications, "Timberman" of Portland, and the "B.C. Lumberman" are covering the convention, together with a battery of photographers.

The need of equipment manufacturers to produce machines geared for use in heavy snow is acute in the U.S. northwest, according to Ray Gould, Diamond Match Co., Tillamook, Ore. Gould says operators there are now getting into high elevations.

Eight junior forest wardens of the Canadian Forestry Association, whose scarlet shirts and forest green ties set them off, are convention page boys. They run messages and handle the microphones on the convention floor.

Many a man at the congress was in the logging "game" when bull teams were in use, but only one used dog teams to handle logs. He is P. B. Anderson, 86, of Vancouver.

No Paving To Pat Bay This Year

Paving of the first section of the new Patricia Bay highway will not be carried out this year, an official of the provincial public works department said today.

He said good paving weather has passed, and the work will have to wait until next year.

Paving would have been completed this year, but the grading contractors got a month behind schedule. The company ran into financial difficulties.

Contract probably will be awarded this week for grading of the second section of the highway.

City Defies Superstition! Votes Dec. 13

Nomination day for candidates in the civic election was set for Dec. 6—election day Dec. 13—at City Council meeting today.

Nominations will be accepted for the post of mayor, five aldermen, one police commissioner and two school trustees in City Council Chamber from 12 noon until 2 in the afternoon of Dec. 6.

On Dec. 13, polling will take place in the Public Market from 9 in the morning until 7 at night.

Frank Hunter, city clerk, was named returning officer, and Percy Wright, assistant city clerk, deputy returning officer.

It is expected that resignations of Ald. Aubrey Kent and Ald. J. D. Hunter will be posted by next council meeting, Nov. 20, to enable them to run for mayor.

Albino Serginotto, 27, of Brechin district, near Nanaimo, was killed in a logging accident Monday afternoon.

BAY MAN GROWLS 'LET ME IN!' TOM HIDES FAMILY IN DARK

The big, bad wolf came to Tom Lum Young's door at Shelbourne and Ruby Monday night.

Nine in the Young family live at the address, close to the family greenhouses.

"Open up and let me in," muffled voice called, after a loud knocking.

"Not by the hair on my chinny-chin-chin," Tom thought, and switched out the lights, pulled down the blinds.

Mary, his sister, even more practical, called the Saanich police.

The man's face was shrouded in a white hood and he was wearing a red skull cap," said Tom, who had peeked out the window. The tall figure carried a gun, moreover.

The police search score: No tracks, no clues, no trace.

Vote Sought On Margarine

Skills Supports Referendum To Stir Lethargy On Public Demand For Coloring

Victoria voters may be asked if they favor colored margarine in a referendum at the December civic election.

Ald. Waldo Skillings was presenting a notice of motion at this afternoon's City Council meeting asking the council to authorize a referendum to ascertain "the feeling of the public."

"This is a provincial government responsibility but the only way to shake them out of their lethargy is a referendum," said Ald. Skillings. "The government is absolutely disregarding public interest."

"I have been approached by innumerable citizens on the matter."

He referred to a recent vote in Winnipeg where he said coloring of margarine was favored five to one. If, enough cities show that demand, he felt the government would have to take action.

"With the high cost of living, large families cannot pay the price for butter but are put to the needless inconvenience of coloring margarine just because of the dairy industry lobby."

Preamble of the notice of motion stated the public have demanded that the Oleomargarine Act be amended to permit coloring of margarine to any degree of yellow.

It also quoted the act which states: No oleomargarine shall have a tint or shade containing more than one and six-tenths degrees yellow or yellow and red collectively, etc.

COUNCIL AT WORK MAY DRAW PUBLIC

Ald. Mooney Recommends Night Sessions To Fill Usually Empty Seats Of Gallery

A council chamber packed with taxpayers and voters, rather than the present empty gallery, is envisioned by Ald. Millard H. Mooney.

He said he would ask today's City Council meeting to fulfill a promise made him many months ago and authorize that the next regular meeting of Council, Nov. 20, be held at 8 in the evening.

"I think voters would come out to a night meeting," said Ald. Mooney. "I would like to see this chamber full of taxpayers and voters. If they have two weeks' notice, it will give the people every chance to make arrangements to turn out."

He referred to the forthcoming civic election as one of the "biggest" in many years with at least seven aldermen to select and a mayor.

"It will give the voters a chance to see some of the people they are going to vote for," said Ald. Mooney. "It will let some who may try to fill the vacancies see the council in action."

He felt there were thousands who had never attended a council meeting and said even some of the high school pupils—future voters—might turn out.

"I think it's the people's duty to turn out and it is our duty to give people who work all day a chance to come."

Hunted Man Caught At U.S. Border

The second of two men hunted by R.C.M.P. for crimes on Vancouver Island has been captured.

Jack Leamont, 36, wanted for jail-breaking, was picked up Monday by U.S. immigration officials at Bellingham, Wash.

Albert Fairweather, 27, charged with murder, was located in an Edmonton hospital Sunday.

Leamont, being detained in Campbell River on a theft charge, broke out of the R.C.M.P. jail and was at large 25 days.

Fairweather eluded police for 46 days. He is alleged to have inflicted an abdominal knife wound which caused the death of Raymond Boyce, 24, near Duncan, September 19.

Preliminary hearing for Fairweather will be held at Duncan.

Navy's Civilians On Small Ships Win Wage Increase

Seventy civilians employed aboard auxiliary and harbor craft maintained by the naval service at H.M.C. Dockyard, Esquimalt, have been awarded a $17-a-month wage increase, it was learned today.

The boost was announced by Robert Smeal, on behalf of the Marine division 289, Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees (C.C.L.).

The new rate of pay puts wages for personnel aboard auxiliary vessels between $170 and $180 a month, plus board and for men serving on harbor craft, between $200 and $210.

TRIO STILL GOING STRONG

Loggers Saw Initial Convention In Seattle Over 40 Years Ago

Three men who attended the first Pacific Logging Congress in 1909 in Seattle are at the current convention here. They are R. D. Merrill, Seattle; L. T. Murray, Tacoma, and George F. Cornwall, Portland.

Not a few of the logging operators' wives are keenly interested in technical problems of the industry. More than a dozen of them attended the second session of the parley this morning at the Sirocco Club. They sat in the gallery overlooking the crowded conference room.

Among the delegates is George Drake, vice-president, Simpson Logging Company, Shelton, Wash., whose outfit, according to competitors, has the best sustained yield unit in the U.S. The Simpson Company "uses everything but the squeal" those in the industry say.

Use of aerial photos is all right, "but a man covering the ground is still hard to beat," says Charles Dunham, of MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd., who told the congress some of the old ways of looking over ground for a new operation are still best.

Cutting down on the cost of board was one way in which B.C. Forest Products kept many of its loggers at camps during the past summer when the forest closure was in effect, according to Tom Fraser, of that company.

The popular conception that it takes a thousand years or more to grow those huge redwoods in California is all wrong, according to Roy Wagner, of Masonite Corp., Ukiah. "Redwood is one of the best timbergrowth belts on the west coast right now," he claims.

Eight junior forest wardens of the Canadian Forestry Association, whose scarlet shirts and forest green ties set them off, are convention page boys. They run messages and handle the microphones on the convention floor.

Many a man at the congress was in the logging "game" when bull teams were in use, but only one used dog teams to handle logs. He is P. B. Anderson, 86, of Vancouver.

Luncheon In Crystal Garden For Wives Of Logging Delegates

In glass-roofed Crystal Garden wives and daughters of delegates to the Pacific Logging Congress enjoyed a luncheon gathering yesterday. On the program was a fashion show with models parading amongst tables in newest fall and winter ensembles. Among those enjoying the presentation were seated, left to right, Mrs. John Ballint, Eugene, Ore.; Mrs. B. F. Ross, Seaside, Ore.; and Miss Juanita Gallaher, Seattle; standing, Mrs. Al Weisendanger, Salem, Ore., and Mrs. A. Brendstrom, Seattle.

There was also a bathing beauty parade with mannequins showing ultra smart bathing suits, crossing a bridge high above the green-tiled pool. Table gifts were a cup and saucer, a small bottle of perfume and candy favors. Guests included, seated, left to right, Mrs. Bob Cunningham, Sappho, Wash.; Mrs. Letty Wick, Seattle; Mrs. Elton Eby and Mrs.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Work Better Hot Or Cold? Climate Does Affect You

Sudden changes in climate are times to watch out for. This is why spring fever is a real, though mild malady. The body has to work to adjust to the lesser amount of heat you require.

Many surveys have been made about how we react to climate, to heat and cold, to storms and wind. The best temperature for efficiency and health is around 68 degrees. When we think of how much hotter most houses are kept in winter we wonder that we do not have more illnesses. Surveys have also shown that most people prefer 50 per cent humidity. A dry day makes you feel peppy, while a humid one depresses you.

There seem to be conflicting ideas as to whether we work best in hot or in cold weather. One viewpoint holds that as our bodily combustion increases we have less energy for work. Another that we are never as efficient in hot weather as in cold. It has been observed that production drops a sizeable per cent when the thermometer rises. Perhaps that is an individual matter.

Thin people are more sensitive to extremes in weather and to sudden changes. The better padded person has a certain amount of natural insulation. The exception is the fat person in the summertime. Then the padding seems more like a fur coat.

We would be wise to take into consideration the effects of climate on our daily lives. We should learn to know ourselves in these matters and leave off the important decisions on days which fret us and do our most important work when the day is simpatico.

"Difficult Day?.. Take a Disprin"

Why DISPRIN? Because DISPRIN is soluble and substantially neutral. When taken in water as recommended, it enters the stomach as a true solution and not as undissolved particles. It is therefore less liable to cause stomach discomfort.

DISPRIN is readily absorbed. Because it definitely dissolves (not merely disintegrates) DISPRIN permits speedy absorption and gives quicker relief.

DISPRIN is palatable. Even children will take it readily.

Science Progresses

For 50 years we have used little white tablets—acetylsalicylic acid—for relief of pain. Today this familiar pain-killer is available in a new form without the disadvantages of acidity, insolubility and bitter taste. It is called 'DISPRIN' and is sold at drug stores everywhere.

'DISPRIN' is available in bottles of 26 tablets or Handy Pocket Folders of 8.

Perfume That Clings

Q.—Dear Claire: I adore perfume, but for some reason or other its fragrance just does not last on me. I have told several of my friends that I want a new perfume, but first I must find out about a lasting one.—Mrs. A. W. A.—A particularly good idea for women who claim that perfume does not "stay with them" is a brand new fragrance medium by Houbigant called Liquid Skin Sachet. It smoothes on the skin very easily and lingers longer because of its sachet base. It has a slower rate of diffusion and evaporation than any other type of fragrance. Try this Houbigant Chantilly Liquid Skin Sachet. Only $2.00.

Miss Constance Hayward, member of the Canadian Citizenship Branch, Department of Citizenship and Immigration.

Liaison Officer A Visitor

"I really don't do a thing," Miss Hayward says. "I merely listen to what other people are doing, then carry the news on to other cities and other groups interested in good citizenship."

It sounds very simple as Miss Hayward tells it but question her and you find she is traveling back and forth across Canada most of her time and she only sees her home apartment in Ottawa "for a few days once in awhile."

"I have visited Victoria before," she says. "I was here when your Canadian Citizenship Council was formed and I have watched it grow and flourish. 'Did you know that the I Am A Canadian' program your council planned has been sent to numbers of groups across Canada interested in the same sort of thing?"

"These groups may not have used the program entirely but certainly it has formed a basis for other programs along the same lines."

Miss Hayward is meeting the citizenship council tonight. Yesterday afternoon she spent with Mrs. Stella Gummow, superintendent of women's institutes in the province. From here she goes to Prince Rupert and Prince George to talk to members of business and professional women's clubs in those cities.

"Each trip I try to contact various groups of voluntary organizations."

"Not to try and instill in them belief in good citizenship and interest in helping our new Canadians. That is not necessary, for every voluntary organization is conscious of these needs, and wishes to assist in both cases."

"I merely sit in on meetings, and help to co-ordinate ideas if I am asked to do so."

"It works both ways," Miss Hayward concluded, "for I never go to a meeting that I do not find a good idea to pass on to other voluntary groups across the country."

The Ottawa visitor, who has been staying at the Empress Hotel, leaves tonight on her trip to northern B.C. She has been away from Ottawa more than a month and does not expect to be back in that city until late in November.

Couple Lead Their Anniversary Waltz

Hugheson and Tony Goebels; comedy, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Orrick; instrumental quartette, the four Hugheson brothers and Tony Goebels; piano solo, F. Fairless; accompanist, Mrs. D. Hawthorn. Norman Hill led community singing. Conducted by R. Clark and Fred Allen, a quiz program was won by Mrs. M. Williams. Refreshments were served by Mrs. B. Clarke, social convener, assisted by Mesdames J. Charlton, A. Jones, C. Kenough, E. Elstrom and D. Hawthorn. Anniversary cake was donated by Mrs. G. Baker.

Burnside—Final plans for a bazaar on Nov. 21 at 2.30 will be made at Burnside P.T.A. meeting, Wednesday, at 8. A movie will be shown. Mrs. H. Beasley will serve refreshments.

Miss Eileen Huck, daughter of Mrs. F. Huck, 2821 Blakewood, left Sunday to visit friends in Vancouver and will return to her home some time next week.

Grandmother's Necklet Worn With Going-Away Ensemble

A crystal necklace belonging to her grandmother, the late Mrs. C. C. Knowles, was worn by Pamela Florence Paine as she left on honeymoon following her marriage last evening to Raymond Clarke.

Rev. T. H. Laundry read the nuptial vows in Church of Our Lord, for the daughter of Mrs. C. Fletcher, 44 Oswego Street, and the late W. H. Paine, and son of Mrs. B. Clarke, Victoria, and Mr. I. Clarke, Hot Springs Cove, B.C.

During signing of the register Joe Fey sang "Because."

Given in marriage by her stepfather, C. Fletcher, the bride chose a ballerina-length peplum gown of azure blue silk net over satin topped with short lace jacket. A matching net veil edged with lace fell from a band of flowers arranged in her dark hair. She wore net gloves and carried a cascade bouquet of red roses tied with white satin.

Miss Patricia Slaven was maid of honor in a pale yellow silk net ballerina gown featuring a short net cape. Her gloves and shoes were in matching tones and the brown chrysanthemums in her bouquet repeated the flowers in her headpiece.

Pink net over blue taffeta with pink velvet sash was worn by little Doreen Fletcher as her sister's flower girl. Her head-dress and colonial bouquet were of white chrysanthemums with pink centres.

Brother of the bride, Bill Paine, was best man, and ushers, Bruce Hooper and Alan Carlow.

Pink and white chrysanthemums.

NEW Hearing Aid Stirs Wave of Enthusiasm

Compact Electronic Unit Without Dangling Cords. Hailed in Six Clinics

NEW YORK: After a series of "sneak" previews in six hearing clinics throughout the Metropolitan area, tabulated reports of hearing experts working in the Acousticon Public Education Department reveal a spontaneous acceptance of a new and revolutionary scientific development for the hard of hearing.

No longer is it necessary to wear a tell-tale cord dangling from the ear. The new Acousticon has no box, nothing of any kind to hide in the clothes. On most women, it cannot be seen. The wearer is free both from cords and clothing noise. Using the telephone is a natural function.

A woman can wear even a strapless gown or swim suit without revealing the fact that she is hard of hearing. Because of the way it is worn, it assures clear, effortless hearing—in fact, better hearing than with any conventional hearing aid known.

This amazing new development may be seen and tried without cost or obligation at Acousticon of Victoria, 219 Stobart Bldg., 745 Yates Street, Victoria, or a FREE illustrated booklet will be sent by writing to the above address.

BEDTIME STORY

by Thornton W. Burgess

Lightfoot the Deer was at his best. He always is in the fall of the year. He not only looks his best, but he feels his best. That is, he does until he chances to meet Buster Bear. When any one goes about looking for a fight, they are said to have a chip on their shoulder and are supposed to be daring any one to knock it off. Lightfoot the Deer strutted about through the Green Forest as if he had a chip on each shoulder and everybody but Buster Bear and Mrs. Bear kept out of his way. He was very fond of showing off.

Feeling as he did, so proud of his fine looks, for he truly was handsome, and of his great strength, Lightfoot saw nothing to worry about or for Mrs. Lightfoot to worry about. Yet Mrs. Lightfoot was worrying.

She was sure that she and Lightfoot would be able to get all the food they needed in the part of the Green Forest where they had spent the winter before and the winter before that. But would the twins be able to?

Lightfoot had demanded to know why she was worrying and she had told him. He still didn't see any reason why she should worry.

"If we can get enough, they ought to be able to, and I'm sure we'll be able to get enough even if we yard up in the same place we did last year," said Lightfoot.

"If the snow gets very deep, we may have to stretch up a little higher to reach the twigs which will be our food at that time."

"You've forgotten something," said Mrs. Lightfoot.

"What have I forgotten?" retorted Lightfoot, a little sharply.

"You have forgotten that the twins are not as big as we are, so cannot reach as high as we can," Mrs. Lightfoot explained.

Lightfoot looked as if he felt just a wee bit foolish. "That is true, my dear. I hadn't thought of it," he said.

"Do you know what the trouble is with you?" asked Mrs. Lightfoot abruptly.

Lightfoot looked surprised. "No," he said. "I don't know what the trouble is with me. I don't know that anything is the

THE END OF THE TRAIL

Gunn Following Stock Entries To Winter Fair

Dr. Wallace R. Gunn, provincial livestock commissioner, left Victoria Monday to attend the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair to be held in Toronto Nov. 13 to 21.

Only government-sponsored entries from B.C. for the show, a carload of Hereford cattle from the mainland, are en route.

They are from Col. Victor Spencer's Earl's Court Ranch, and L. W. Woods' stock farm at Armstrong.

The Hereford breeders are hoping to duplicate the successes won by B.C. entries last year at the fair, when the Holstein exhibits, including those of Gordon Rendle from the Victoria area, scored top marks.

As far as is known to livestock branch officials, there will be no horses entered at the fair this year.

Des. Hazlett, of Duncan, will attend the fair with members of Junior Livestock clubs, and it is expected that Agriculture Minister Harry Bowman will leave Victoria at a later date to attend the fair.

FIGHT RESULTS

Nina Foch, June Allyson Suffer Casting Problems

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 3 (AP)—Nina Foch, newly discovered as a sexy beauty, can't figure it out. "It's the same old story," she sighed. "You have to go to Broadway to show Hollywood you can do good movie roles. And you have to be seen in the movies to land good stage parts."

When she was under contract to Columbia, the studio could think of her only as a portrayal of neurotic females. "You're not sexy," she was told.

But M-G-M thought otherwise. In her three films there, she has been an eye-appealing clothes horse. In "Young Man in a Hurry," she competes with Denise Darcel for Glenn Ford. And she plays Marie Antoinette in "Sodom and Gomorrah."

Nina isn't too happy about the turn of events. "Now I'll have to go back to Columbia to get a neurotic role again," she sighs.

June Allyson has a casting problem, too. But she isn't getting sexier. Just younger.

June plays most of the time in "Too Young to Kiss" as a 14-year-old. When I saw her on the set of "The Girl in White," she was decked out as a lass of 12.

"I'm going backwards," she declared. "Isn't it awful? I understand they are now dusting off a few old Margaret O'Brien scripts for me."

 Golds — 67.28, off 0.23
 P. and P. — 790.87, off 2.73
 Sales, 468,000.

Industrials Lead Decline At Montreal

MONTREAL — Support lagged towards the close on the Montreal exchange and prices dipped slightly from the mixed forenoon path. Trading was slow. Changed were generally limited to minor fractions.

Industrials led the list into lower ground. Papers and utilities moved irregularly easier, while carriers were shaded. Beverages, senior metals, senior oils and steel held plus and minus signs in balance. Banks were steady to a trifle firmer. International Nickel gained 1 1/2 points to 44; while International Paper was traded lightly at 67, up two points. There were no major losers.

Min. continued mixed. United Asbestos was up 55 cents at $5.05 under a fair turnover. Western oils were weak. Admiral was off slightly under considerable interest.

Oil Trading Slower

VANCOUVER — The Vancouver market was rather dull today, but prices for the most part held fairly firm. There was not nearly as much trading in oil. Anglo-Canadian, in part with Pacific Petroleum in last week's strike at Fort St. John, slipped 15 cents, dropping from $8.15 to $8.00. Canadian Atlantic held firm at $7.50. Calmont gained 4 cents, going from $1.71 to $1.75. Okalta added 5 cents, climbing from $2.75 to $2.80.

Mines were generally firm. Few changes were recorded in industrials. Powell River was off 25 cents at $26.25.

Steels Get Support

TORONTO — Stock market prices wavered uncertainly toward the session's close. Industrials opened mixed and developed little trend.

Steels and foods drew most support to form the market's strongest sections. Utilities and agricultural holdings held firm while construction, liquors, banks, textiles, retail stores and miscellaneous industrials turned mixed. Papers and manufacturing while refining oils dipped sharply.

Activity declined to the slowest pace since August.

Western oils recovered some early losses. Central-Explorers, Canadian Collieries, Consolidated Cordasun, Mid-Continent and Superior climbed pennies. Canadian Atlantic, Commonwealth, General Petroleum A, Okalta, North Canadian, Selburn and Trans Empire remained weak.

In base metals Consolidated Smelters, Falconbridge, Quernont and United Keno Hill eased fractionally. United Asbestos, Cobalt, Lode, Mindamir and Steep Rock turned upward.

Senior golds showed gains and losses in balance. Hollinger and Sigma firm while Kerr Addison and Wright-Hargreaves weakened. Juniors dipped sharply.

Industrials Firmer

LONDON (Reuters) — The recent rally in the stock exchange was slightly extended today but trading remained limited.

British government funds were unchanged to a fraction harder but firmness was fairly widespread in the industrial groups, particularly iron, steel, stores and cements.

A good selective demand brought rising prices to oil shares, while among foreigners there was a short-lived flurry in German government loans. Profit-taking, however, later removed much of the improvement.

Coppers were a strong feature of mining. Gold mines were quietly firmer.

Federal Sales

Tax Revenue Hits New High

By HARRY YOUNG
Times Business Editor

To most people the Canadian sales tax is roughly described as being 10 per cent impost on most goods except food. The public's lack of knowledge is due largely because it is an indirect tax applied at the manufacturing level, and not, as in the case of B.C. 3 per cent tax, at the over-the-counter level.

Yet this federal sales tax is such a complicated business that C.C.H. Canadian Ltd., which has just produced its second edition of the Canadian Sales and Excise Tax Guide ($2.00), required 240 pages of type to present all the data.

The publishers say "Few people know exactly what articles are affected by these taxes and what articles are exempt. Many times a return in excess of actual requirement is made because of misunderstanding."

Items noted to be exempt—showers, bathtubs, and religious tracts, liver extract (for use in treating anaemia), ores of all kinds, war veterans' badges and articles for use by the Governor-General.

The Guide also shows the tremendous growth of yield to the government through sales tax.

When instituted in 1920-21 the tax collected was $38,126,064. This was a 1 per cent levy on sales by manufacturers, on sales by wholesalers and on imports.

In 1923-24 tax rate had risen to as much as 6 per cent, and over $100,000,000 accrued to the government.

This year it is estimated that the sales tax will bring in an all-time record of $471,000,000. Last year it was $415,220,776.

Oil Production

In Saskatchewan Sets New Record

By C. V. MYERS

Saskatchewan oil production set a new record of 124,154 barrels during September, according to the monthly report of the Lloydminster Petroleum Association. This surpasses the previous high of 119,476 barrels set last July, and brings the total production to date this year to 934,850 barrels. September production indicates that the 1950 production record of 1,041,097 barrels will be passed in October, and that the 1951 production will at least reach the 1,200,000 mark.

Royalite and Albercan are preparing to place three more wells on production and have staked a fifth location in the district of Coville in southwestern Saskatchewan, scene of a heavy crude, cretaceous discovery, 65 miles southeast of the Lloydminster field.

Coville No. 4, about three-quarters of a mile southeast of the discovery, is waiting on service rig for completion after setting production casing past 2,700 feet. No. 3, about three-quarters of a mile northwest of the discovery, has set production casing to 2,660 feet and is waiting on cement. No. 6-30, an east offset, has set production casing to 2,668 feet, and No. 2, a north offset, slated as a Devonian test, is drilling past 3,844 feet. The new location, preparing to start drilling operations, is No. 58-24, a southwest offset to the discovery.

Bonds Made Firmer

MONTREAL (CP) — Short-term Government of Canada issues were firmer under a slight demand today on the Montreal bond market. Trading was generally quiet. Interest continued in C.P.R. Convertibles, on the corporate market, along with B.A. oils, were a trifle firmer.

Chemical Plant For Edmonton

Industry To Make Use Of Oil From Alberta, Pulp From B.C.

By CANADIAN PRESS

A huge new chemical industry is taking shape in Edmonton as an offshoot of Alberta's wealth of oil and natural gas. Important chemicals not at present produced in Canada will soon be manufactured out of by-products from the nearby oil refineries. Wood pulp from British Columbia will be processed into yarn and staple fibre.

First in the field is Canadian Chemical Co. Ltd., an affiliate of Celanese Corporation. It is spending $54,600,000 on 300 acres of buildings on what a few months ago was a wheat field.

A second plant, to cost more than $10,000,000, may be built by Canadian Industries Ltd. Montreal executives of the firm have been in Edmonton conferring with Mayor Sidney Parsons on a site for the project.

READY IN 1953

Canadian Chemical's plant, overlooking the North Saskatchewan River six miles east of the city, will be ready early in 1953. A work force of 500 men is pushing construction under severe winter conditions. Two thousand will be on the job next summer.

The plant will have two main divisions. One will use propane and butane gases to manufacture chemicals, most of which now must be imported from the United States, while the other will turn out yarn and staple fibre, as well as large quantities of raw material which will be exported for final processing elsewhere.

HUGE PRODUCTION

This raw material is cellulose acetate flake. About 25,000,000 pounds a year of the stuff will be turned out—5,000,000 pounds to be processed at the Edmonton plant and the remaining 10,000,000 pounds to be exported.

Two-thirds of Edmonton's 15,000,000-pound quota will go into staple fibre and the remainder into yarn.

Wood pulp from the acetate flake will come from an affiliated mill at Terrace, B.C., on the Prince Rupert-Edmonton line of Canadian National Railways.

Started Each Day Feeling Tired, Upset; Nervous Too

—now years drop away for Brantford woman who feels like young girl, when Sarnak relieves long-standing kidney condition, stomach upsets and that always-tired feeling.

MRS. H. HOLMES

What a joy it is to wake with that "glad to be alive" feeling—instead of feeling so weary, dragged out and discouraged you lose interest in life!

Mrs. H. Holmes, 59 Colborne St., Brantford, Ontario, is one of the lucky ones who has had that happy experience. She writes—

"For several years I haven't felt well. Even before I started the day I was always so tired and nervous—I never came to go out and didn't take much interest in life.

"I suffered a lot from a dull ache in the back of my neck which sometimes lasted three days; could not eat a meal without bloating and having shortness of breath; and was very irregular as well.

"Nothing I took seemed much help until I tried Sarnak. By the time I had taken my first bottle of Sarnak, I began to feel like a girl again, relieved of stomach upsets and that tired-out feeling. Sarnak also relieved a kidney condition I had suffered with for a long time.

No wonder I am thankful for all Sarnak has been able to do for me."

Mrs. Holmes' case bears out the reports from hundreds who have tried Sarnak, and who have found relief within three weeks. You see, Sarnak starts its effective relief from the moment you take the first dose. It acts fast because it's in liquid form; no tablets or pills to dissolve in the stomach.

So don't suffer a moment longer than necessary. Get Sarnak today.

CHURCHILL WARNS BRITAIN FACING FINANCIAL CRISIS

Russian Support Sought By Egypt

Evidence Indicates Early Break With Western Powers

CAIRO, Nov. 6 (Reuters).—Indications mounted today that Egypt is preparing to break with the west and side with Russia for Communist support against Britain in the tussle for control of the Suez Canal.

Press reports here and dispatches from the United Nations session in Paris pointed to a swing to the east as gunfire crackled again in the troubled canal zone.

A band of Egyptian guerrillas opened up on two British sentries near Ismailia in the zone, but fled when the British returned the fire. Nobody was hurt. British spokesmen also reported that an army truck was fired on outside of Ismailia Monday night—also without casualties.

Strongest pointers to likelihood of moving in with Russia—and perhaps signing a friendship pact—came from the Paris U.N. session and in local newspapers.

The paper Al Nida said today

New Trade Pact Hinted

Diplomats here figure there may be something in the wind despite Egypt's repeated assertion that political and religious traditions would prevent the country from ever going Communist.

The paper Al Nida said also that Egypt's legation in Moscow has sent home a report "of paramount importance, bringing joy to the hearts of all Egyptians."

Another paper, the prominent Al Misri, also joined the cry today. It said that reports of a

Seek War End With No Truce

MUNSAN, Korea, Nov. 6 (AP).—The United Nations' command spokesman said today the Communists want to call off the fighting in Korea without signing a formal armistice.

The U.N., he said, will have none of that.

Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, the spokesman, said the Reds tipped their hand Tuesday when they rejected the latest Allied proposal. That was an offer to set aside the stalemate cease-fire buffer-zone issue for the moment and take up other items that must be settled before a formal armistice can be signed.

The Reds demanded, Nuckols said, immediate "final, formal solution" of the buffer-zone matter before proceeding to the rest of the agenda.

Nuckols said this would in effect allow a de facto cease-fire—an end to the fighting without formal agreement—and let armistice talks drag on indefinitely.

There was speculation the Communists wanted an unofficial armistice: (1) to get relief from Allied air poundings, (2) because it might pin down a great amount of the west's available military forces, and (3) because they can't stand another U.N. offensive.

Nuckols said the only incentive that makes the Reds keep talking is "continuing pressure of possible hostilities."

HEAVY RED BLOWS

U.S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Nov. 6 (AP).—Chinese infantrymen captured a third hill on the expanding western front today and held two other peaks against Allied counterattacks.

The Communists won three other hills but lost them again. Their three-day-old offensive spread through drizzling rain over a 20-mile sector. Supported by their heaviest display of armor in months, they hit United Nations' forces from points west of Yoncheon—eight miles north of the 38th Parallel—to the hills north of Chonwon, western anchor of their old iron triangle.

C.P.R. Hits Equalized Rail Rates

OTTAWA, Nov. 6 (CP).—The Canadian Pacific Railway today told a Commons special committee it is opposing some provisions in the government's freight-rate "equalization" legislation.

The company made this known to the committee, opening hearings on the legislation, after the government-owned Canadian National Railways said it has no objection in principle to the three bills before the committee.

The measures, which have received second reading in the Commons, provide:

1. Directions to the rate regulating Board of Transport Commissioners to undertake rate equalization so far as it can be achieved, between the different areas of Canada. This is the main bill. It also includes a $7,000,000-a-year subsidy to the railways to help them bring down their rates in thinly-settled northern Ontario.

2. An amendment to the maritime freight rates act of 1927 to make regular a practice in paying rate subsidies that has been in effect for some years without legislative sanction.

3. A closer scrutiny of co-operative economy measures between the two railways.

Opening submissions before the committee, H. E. O'Donnell, C.N.R. counsel, said that "in principle the C.N.R. has no objection to these bills and has no representations to make concerning them at this time."

Ald. Mooney Critical Of Appointment

Ald. Millard H. Mooney lambasted appointment of Robert Doble and charged finance committee with "over-stepping the rules" at City Council meeting today.

Rising on question of privilege at the outset of the meeting he said he wanted his disapproval of appointment of Doble as traffic engineering assistant to go on the record.

He objected to manner in which appointment was made and disagreed with employment of Doble.

"We would be paying too high a salary for a person not qualified as a first-class superintendent," he said.

Regarding the finance committee, he said it acted too frequently without reference to council.

He referred specifically to "one glaring example"—the offer of King Realty to purchase the market building, which includes No. 1 fire hall and adjoining property. Offer was $70,000.

Finance committee turned it down and Ald. Mooney wanted to know by what authority it did so, without first asking permission of council.

'Exceptional Measures' In Prospect, He Says

LONDON, Nov. 6 (CP).—Prime Minister Winston Churchill declared today his new Conservative government found Britain on the road to "national bankruptcy."

He warned the nation it is entering a period of emergency during which he will be forced to take "exceptional measures."

"We are convinced," he told the House of Commons, "that it is necessary to present the facts plainly to the nation in order that everyone might realize where we stand."

In addition to stringent financial action, Churchill said he will ask soon for a secret session of Commons at which he will give it

Does Not Specify Remedies

Churchill did not specify just what remedies he has in mind, but said:

"We feel that a solemn resolve by Parliament and by the British people to set their house in order without delay and the measures necessary to give effect to this resolve will act as a tonic to our credit all the world over."

Churchill described the nation's financial position as "the gravest matter I have to bring before the House."

Churchill said that "confidence in sterling is impaired."

He said unless "present trends and policies" are reversed, the gold-dollar reserves of the sterling bloc might slump more than $600,000,000 in 1952.

These reserves are the entire dollar capital of the countries using the pound sterling as the basis of national currency. The reserves now are down to slightly more than $3 billion.

Worse Than Crisis Of 1949

Churchill said Britain has a deficit crisis worse than that of 1949 and is running into debt abroad at the rate of £700,000,000 or nearly $2,000,000,000 a year. The pound was devalued in 1949.

He said the deficit crisis is not only worse than 1949 but "in many ways worse than in 1947." He referred to financial help from the United States in those years, saying:

"Do not let us forget during the last six years the immense financial help loaned or given us by the U.S. government and our

Speech Read By Lord Simonds

The Throne Speech also said:

1. Stand pat in Egypt and press for a Middle-East defense plan.
2. "Try to repair the injuries (British) rights and interests suffered in Iran."
3. De-nationalize the steel industry taken over by the Socialist government.
4. Attack cartels and monopolies.

5. Take drastic action against growing inflation.
6. Strengthen home defenses.

The speech from the throne is usually read by Britain's monarch, but because the King is still convalescing from his lung operation, today's address was read for him in the House of Lords by the Lord Chancellor, Lord Simonds.

Churchill Ready To Fight; Wants To Meet Stalin

LONDON, Nov. 6 (UP).—Winston Churchill announced today that Britain will fight if necessary to stay in the Suez Canal Zone and called for direct negotiations with Marshal Stalin in an attempt to end the cold war.

The new Prime Minister outlined the policies of his government in a speech read at a joint session of parliament in the King's name and later in a speech of his own in the House of Commons.

"Our greatest hope in international affairs is to end what is called the cold war by negotiation at the highest level from strength and not from weakness," Churchill told the Commons. "We will endeavor to have negotiations at the highest level."

Even if a meeting with Stalin did not produce friendship between east and west, Churchill said, it might stop the "terrible waste and strain of the cold war."

A few hours earlier French

President Vincent Auriol, opening a United Nations General Assembly in Paris, also called for a "Big Four" meeting at the highest level.

"We resolve to maintain our position in the Suez canal zone, despite the illegal action of the Egyptians with regard to the Anglo-Egyptian treaty," Churchill said. "We shall do our utmost to preserve the canal as an international highway, using no more force than is necessary."

Britain also will "strive patiently and resolutely to repair the situation in Iran," where Britain's billion-dollar oil interests have been nationalized, Churchill said.

In a blistering 225-word note to Egypt, made public as he addressed Commons, Churchill said the Egyptians would be held responsible for "any break of the peace and any damage to life and property."

Churchill told Commons that he intended to hold a secret debate on defense soon.

MILK CHARGES DOUBLED TO PAY BOARD SALARIES

B.C. Milk Board doubled its charges to distributors and producers to pay salaries of two new members, chairman E. C. Carr said today.

In a telephone interview from Vancouver, Carr said also the additional revenue was needed to cover increased costs. The board had been holding more hearings lately.
